Table of Contents

ANSGAR NÜNNING and KAI MARCEL SICKS:
Turning Points as Metaphors and Mininarrations:
Analysing Concepts of Change in Literature and Other Media 1

I. Conceptualising Turning Points in Narrative Theory

ANSGAR NÜNNING: "With the Benefit of Hindsight":
Features and Functions of Turning Points as a
Narratological Concept and as a Way of Self-Making 31

ANNETTE SIMONIS: Turning Points in the Nineteenth-Century Novella:
Poetic Negotiations and the Representation of Social Rituals 59

PIRJO LYYTIKÄINEN: Iterative Narration and Other Forms of Resistance to Peripeties in Modernist Writing 73

VINCENZO MARTELLA: The Missing Turning Points in the Story:
Musil's Der Mann ohne Eigenschaften Between Ethics and Epistemology 85

ROBERT VOGT: "If the Stranger hadn't been there! ... But he was!"
Causal, Virtual and Evaluative Dimensions of Turning Points in Alternate Histories, Science-Fiction Stories and Multiverse Narratives 107

II. Narratives of Cultural Change in Literature and Visual media

LIEVEN AMEEL: On the Threshold: The Brothel and the Literary Salon as Heterotopias in Finnish Urban Novels 125

digitalisiert durch:
IDS Basel Bern

PETER HANENBERG: Long Waves or Vanishing Points?
A Cognitive Approach to the Literary Construction of History 145

DIANA GONÇALVES: (Re)Turn to Dystopia:
Community Feeling in M. Night Shyamalan's The Village 159

ANNA RETTBERG: Remediating Turning Points for Conviviality and Englishness in Contemporary Black British Literature 175

ISABEL CAPELOA GIL: This Is (Not) It:
Rate, Rattle and Roll in the Struggle for Financial Narratives 191

III. Turning Point Narratives in Literary and Cinematic Life-Writing

JULIA FAISST: Turning a Slave Into a Freeman: Frederick Douglass,
Photography and the Formation of African American Fiction 213

TERESA FERREIRA: Reframing Absence:
Masquerade as Turning Point in Du Maurier's and Hitchcock's Rebecca 229

HANNA MÄKELÄ: Player in the Dark: Mourning the Loss of the Moral Foundation of Art in Woody Allen's Match Point 245

ELISA ANTZ: Roots, Seduction and Mestiçagem in José Eduardo Agualusa's My Father's Wives 269

ELEONORA RAVIZZA: A Middle Passage to Modernity: Reflections on David Dabydeen's Postmodern Slave Narrative A Harlot's Progress 285

LINDA KARLSSON HAMMARFELT:
Becoming the 'Other': Metamorphosis and 'Turning Points' in Katja Lange-Müller and Yoko Tawada 301

IV. Constructing Turning Points in Literary History

KERSTIN LUNDSTRÖM: Lay Pamphlets in Early Reformation:
Turning Points in Religious Discourse and the Pamphlet Genre? 319

ELISABETH WÅGHÄLL NIVRE:
The King is Dead, Long Live… the Queen: Turning Points in Panegyric Writing – Queen Christina of Sweden (1626-1689) 337

MARÍLIA DOS SANTOS LOPES: Writing New Worlds: Eberhard Werner Happel and the Invention of a Genre 351

ROSSANA BONADEI: Dickens and The Pickwick Papers: Unstable Signs in a Transmodal Discourse 361

HETA PYRHÖNEN: Bridget Jones's Diary: A Case Study of Austen Fan Fiction 371

SABRINA KUSCHE: New Media and the Novel: A Survey of Generic Trends in Contemporary Literature 387

V. (De)Constructing Turning Points in Literary Theory

BO PETTERSSON: On the Linguistic Turns in the Humanities and Their Effect on Literary Studies 407

ANGELA LOCATELLI: Turning Points and Mutuality in Literature and Psychoanalysis 425

CLAUDIA EGERER: The Speaking Animal Speaking the Animal: Three Turning Points in Thinking the Animal 437

Notes on Contributors 453