Contents

		Page
Preface		v
I	Overview Paolo Mauro, Eswar Prasad, and Antonio Spilimbergo	1
II	Regional Unemployment in Europe Paolo Mauro, Eswar Prasad, and Antonio Spilimbergo	3
	Trends in Unemployment Rates	3
	Why Do Regional Unemployment Differences Matter?	5
	Appendix: European Regions and U.S. States	11
	References	13
III	Regional Labor Markets in Italy Eswar Prasad	14
	Main Empirical Features	14
	Wage Dispersion	17
	The Structure of Earnings and Employment: Evidence from Micro Data	19
	Conclusions	26
	References	28
IV	Regional Labor Markets in Spain Paolo Mauro and Antonio Spilimbergo	29
	Geographic Differences in Unemployment Rates and Their Persistence	29
	Potential Adjustment Mechanisms	31
	To What Extent Do Wages Adjust?	32
	How Does the Labor Market Adjust to Shocks?	34
	Current Arrangements That Hinder Labor Market Adjustment	36
	Conclusions	39
	Appendix: Data Sets on the Spanish Provinces	40
	References	40
V	Policy Implications Paolo Mauro, Eswar Prasad, and Antonio Spilimbergo	42
	References	43
Box
	4.1. The Effects of Bargaining Centralization	37

Tables

2.1. Standard Deviations of Unemployment Rates 4
2.2. Coefficients of Variation of Unemployment Rates 6
2.3. Unemployment Rates on the Basis of Age and Gender 7
2.4. Average Net Interregional Migration 9
3.1. Summary Statistics for Data Samples 20
3.2. Wage Regressions for Logarithms of Net Weekly Earnings 21
3.3. Wage Regressions for Logarithms of Net Hourly Earnings 23
3.4. Labor Force Participation Rates 24
3.5. Reasons for Nonparticipation in Labor Force 24
3.6. Current Activities of Labor Force Participants 25
3.7. Youth Unemployment Rates 25
3.8. Length of Unemployment Spell Among Unemployed 26
3.9. Determinants of Labor Force Status 27
4.1. Real Wage and Unit Labor Cost Differentials and Their Sources 34
4.2. Wage Agreements by Type, 1995 38

Figures

2.1. Unemployment Rates in Italy, Spain, European Union, and European Monetary Union Members 3
2.2. Unemployment Rates by Region: 1995–97 vs. 1983–85 8
2.3. Labor Productivity and Compensation 10
3.1. Unemployment and Employment Growth 15
3.2. Employment-Population Ratios: A Cross-Country Perspective 16
3.3. Labor Force Status by Gender 17
3.4. Employment and Participation Rates by Region 17
3.5. Measures of Interindustry Wage Dispersion 19
4.1. Unemployment Rates by Province 30
4.2. Unemployment Rates by Region 31
4.3. Persistence of Unemployment in the Spanish Provinces: Survey Rate and Registered Rate 32
4.4. Response to a One Percent Negative Employment Shock in a Given Province 36