Table of Contents

Overview 8

PART I – The Global Era 21

1. Global connections: The processes and politics of globalization 23
2. Painful adjustment: The social costs of structural adjustment 36

PART II – The Search for Identity 57

3. Global citizens on the move: A new era of international migration 59
4. Criminal tendencies: The international breakdown of law and order? 72
5. No quick fix: The endless war on drugs 85
6. Identity crisis: Ethnic conflict, religion and violence 95
7. Rebuilding war-torn societies: New responsibilities for international organizations 110

PART III – Taking Global Responsibility 127

8. States of uncertainty: The fragmentation of power and responsibility 129
9. Strain within the family: The changing fabric of personal relations 143
10. Freedom without responsibility: The rise and rise of transnational corporations 153
11. Global citizenship: A new basis for international solidarity 167

Boxes

1.1 The people modernization leaves behind 24
1.2 Health in the era of globalization 26
2.1 The debt burden 41
2.2 The impact of adjustment on small farmers 44
2.3 Falling wages 45
2.4 Economic restructuring and environmental policy 50
2.5 Why social safety nets miss the poorest 53
3.1 The growth of mega cities 60
3.2 The world's refugees: global statistics 62
4.1 Victimization rates 75
4.2 Community-based crime control in Japan 82
5.1 Drugs, violence and instability in Colombia 93
6.1 Definitions of ethnic identity 96
6.2 Types of political violence 104
7.1 The proliferation of light weapons 112
7.2 The weapons that never miss 114
7.3 Reintegration of returnees 118
7.4 The social consequences of the peace process in Cambodia 122
8.1 The future of the welfare state 130
8.2 Education for sale 132
9.1 Female-headed households in Ghana 146
9.2 Who works longer? 148
9.3 Female employment and social tensions in South Africa 149
10.1 Corporate power 154
10.2 Corporate charity 155
10.3 Corporate good guys 161
11.1 Proposals for global institutional reform 170