

Contents

Tables and Figures		ix
Contributors		xi
Preface		xiii
Introduction: States and Ethnic Pluralism Don MacIver		1
Part One: Dominant Pluralism		33
1 India Vernon Hewitt		35
2 Russia Peter Duncan		63
Part Two: Bipolar Pluralism		85
3 Belgium John Fitzmaurice		87
4 Czechoslovakia Karen Henderson		107
Part Three: Complex Pluralism		135
5 Lebanon Fida Nasrallah		137
6 Switzerland Jonathan Steinberg		163
7 Yugoslavia Christopher Bennett		189

Part Four: Ethno-regionalism		213
8	Britain	Michael Keating	215
9	Canada	Don MacIver	237
10	Spain	John Gibbons	271
	Select Bibliography		293
	Index		303

Tables and Figures

TABLES

Table 4.1	National Composition of Czechoslovakia	109
Table 4.2	National Composition of the Czech Lands	110
Table 4.3	National Composition of Slovakia	110
Table 4.4	1946 National Assembly Elections in the Czech Lands	113
Table 4.5	1946 National Assembly Elections in the Slovakia	113
Table 4.6	Czechoslovak Election Results 1990	117
Table 4.7	Czechoslovak Election Results 1992	118
Table 7.1	Ethnic Composition of the Kingdom of Serbs, Croats and Slovenes in 1918	191
Table 7.2	Ethnic Composition of Yugoslavia	193
Table 7.3	Evolution of the Relations between the Nations of Yugoslavia	194

FIGURES

Figure 0.1	The Political Environment	16
Figure 0.2	Separatism	18
Figure 3.1	Belgium	98
Figure 9.1	Ethnic Origins of Canadians	238
Figure 9.2	Population of Canada 1901–1991 by Ethnic Origin	239