

Contents

Acknowledgments	ix
Introduction	i
Leslie Heywood and Jennifer Drake

PART ONE

What Is the Third Wave? Third Wave Cultural Contexts

1	Living in Mcjobdom: Third Wave Feminism and Class Inequity	25
	Michelle Sidler
2	We Learn America like a Script: Activism in the Third Wave; or, Enough Phantoms of Nothing	40
	Leslie Heywood and Jennifer Drake
3	Reading between the Waves: Feminist Historiography in a "Postfeminist" Moment	55
	Deborah L. Siegel
4	HUES Magazine: The Making of a Movement	83
	Tali Edut, with Dyann Logwood and Ophira Edut

PART TWO

The Third Wave and Representation

5	Part Animal, Part Machine: Self-Definition, Rollins Style	103
	Leigh Shoemaker
6	Roseanne: A "Killer Bitch" for Generation X	122
	Jennifer Reed
7	A Tale of Two Feminisms: Power and Victimization in Contemporary Feminist Debate	134
	Carolyn Sorisio

PART THREE

Third Wave Negotiations

8	Deconstructing Me: On Being (Out) in the Academy	155
	Carol Guess

9	Feminism and a Discontent Lidia Yukman	168
10	Masculinity without Men: Women Reconciling Feminism and Male-Identification Ana Marie Cox, Freya Johnson, Annalee Newitz, and Jillian Sandell	178

PART FOUR

Third Wave Activism and Youth Music Culture

11	Duality and Redefinition: Young Feminism and the Alternative Music Community Melissa Klein	207
12	Doin' It for the Ladies—Youth Feminism: Cultural Productions/Cultural Activism Jen Smith	226
13	Hip-Hop Matters: Rewriting the Sexual Politics of Rap Music Jeff Niesel	239
	Contributors	255
	Index	261