

Table of Contents

The Political Economy of Transformation. Editors' Introduction	7
José Casas Pardo
The Spanish Transition to Democracy. A Public Choice Approach	11
Günther F. Schäfer
Comment on: "The Spanish Transition to Democracy"	45
Jens Hölscher and Johannes Stephan
Export Oriented Development and Income Creation in Hungary	47
Sven Damberger and Franz Haslinger
Capital Needs in Eastern Europe and the Former Soviet Union	73
Davorin Kracun and Egon Zizmond
Transition and Economic Reform in the Case of Slovenia	87
Joanna Kruczalak-Jankowska
The Environmental Problems in the Process of Privatization in Poland	113
Jürgen Backhaus and Staffan Westerlund
A Note on Waste Management in Slovakia	121
Barbara Krug
Moving the Mountains: Some Lessons from the Chinese Case of Economic Transformation	127
A. Nesterenko
Current Issues of Institutional Reforms in the Russian Economy	153
Władysław B. Sztyber
Structural Transformation in Foreign Trade of Poland in the Process of Transition	167

Janina Witkowska

Foreign Direct Investment in Central and Eastern Europe in the Light of the Eclectic Paradigm of International Production 189

Zofia Wysokinska

The Implications of the Transformation and Integration Processes on Structural Adjustments in the Polish Industry and Foreign Trade:
Some Comparisons with South-East Asia 211

Nicholas W. Balabkins and Frank B. Gunter

The Miracle of the Latvian Lat: Its Fragile Foundations 241

Frank G. Steindl

The Miracle of the Latvian Lat: Accountants or Markets? 257

Arno Mong Daastöl

Transportation, Credit, and Raw Materials in the Russian Transformation. Shock-Therapy Rent-Seeking or Mercantilist Rent-Creation? 259

Authors 347