

CONTENTS

FOREWORD	ix
PREFACE	xii
1 FROM BASIC PSYCHOLOGICAL PROCESSES TO INTERGROUP CONFLICT	1
What are intergroup relations?	2
Building blocks for the study of intergroup relations	5
Perspectives on individuals and social groups	20
2 ETHNOCENTRISM AND INGROUP IDENTITY: THE NEED FOR "WE-NESS"	22
Ethnocentrism: the ingroup and the self	22
Behavioral consequences of group identity	25
Theories of group identification	37
Do ingroups require outgroups?	47
3 PREJUDICE AND OUTGROUP HOSTILITY: WHEN DIFFERENCE IS BAD	50
Outgroup homogeneity and the accentuation of group differences	51
The effects of arousal and mood on responses toward the outgroup	59
Aggression	65
Aversive racism	72

4	INTERGROUP DISCRIMINATION: WHAT IS JUST TO US IS UNFAIR TO THEM	77
	Discrimination in the minimal intergroup situation	79
	Some possible mechanisms: mediators of ingroup bias	83
	Summary	105
5	INTERGROUP CONTACT, COOPERATION, AND COMPETITION: DOES TOGETHERNESS MAKE FRIENDS?	107
	Intergroup contact: the social psychology of desegregation	107
	Contact experiments: defining the limits	113
	Theoretical perspectives on contact and cooperation	118
6	INTERNATIONAL CONFLICT: WHAT MAKES WAR POSSIBLE?	134
	Theories of human nature: the biological perspective	134
	Perception and misperception: the cognitive perspective	137
	Faulty decision making: the group dynamics perspective	145
	Breaking the cycle of distrust	149
	Concluding perspectives: putting the building blocks together	152
	REFERENCES	154
	INDEX	182