

— Contents

|                                    |      |
|------------------------------------|------|
| List of figures                    | vi   |
| List of boxes                      | vii  |
| List of tables                     | viii |
| Series editor's preface            | ix   |
| Introduction                       | xi   |
| Acknowledgements                   | xiv  |
| 1 Leaders and managers             | 1    |
| 2 The trait approach               | 7    |
| 3 Contingency approaches           | 22   |
| 4 Attribution theory of leadership | 46   |
| 5 Do leaders make a difference?    | 58   |
| 6 Power and influence              | 72   |
| 7 Leaders who derail               | 89   |
| 8 Charismatic leadership           | 101  |
| 9 Transformational leadership      | 113  |
| 10 Empowerment                     | 130  |
| 11 Women leaders                   | 144  |
| 12 Leadership across frontiers     | 157  |
| Bibliography                       | 172  |
| Index                              |      |

— Figures

|      |  |     |
|------|--|-----|
| 2.1  | The leadership grid                                      | 14  |
| 2.2  | The leadership continuum                                 | 15  |
| 2.3  | Leadership style   | 16  |
| 3.1  | Situational leadership                                   | 24  |
| 3.2  | Fiedler's Contingency Theory                             | 28  |
| 3.3  | The Vroom–Yetton–Jago model                              | 36  |
| 4.1  | Attribution  | 49  |
| 4.2  | An attributional leadership model                        | 51  |
| 4.3  | The effects of a manager's corrective actions            | 56  |
| 5.1  | Working model of leadership outcomes                     | 61  |
| 5.2  | Leadership: evidence that we overestimate its importance | 63  |
| 6.1  | Power dimensions and their bases                         | 79  |
| 7.1  | The managerial cross-over                                | 96  |
| 11.1 | Women directors: number of appointments                  | 151 |

— Boxes

|      |   |     |
|------|---|-----|
| 1.1  | The importance of leadership                            | 1   |
| 1.2  | From command to coach                                   | 3   |
| 2.1  | Persistence wins every time                             | 10  |
| 6.1  | Measuring the different power bases used by supervisors | 84  |
| 7.1  | Breaking the rules                                      | 99  |
| 8.1  | Alexander: a man of the people                          | 102 |
| 8.2  | Branson on risk   | 108 |
| 9.1  | Mary Kay Cosmetics                                      | 116 |
| 9.2  | Change while you are ahead                              | 118 |
| 10.1 | Ignition sessions at Mercury Communications             | 134 |
| 10.2 | Empowerment: repackaged fad?                            | 135 |
| 11.1 | Yes, women leaders are different                        | 145 |
| 11.2 | No, women leaders are not so different                  | 148 |
| 11.3 | A woman's place   | 152 |
| 12.1 | An analysis of the case in point                        | 164 |

— Tables

|      |   |     |
|------|---|-----|
| 2.1  | Leadership styles   | 17  |
| 2.2  | Attitudes   | 17  |
| 3.1  | Maturity  | 25  |
| 3.2  | Leadership decision styles  | 32  |
| 5.1  | Substitutes and neutralizers for leadership                                     | 68  |
| 6.1  | Individuals' power: five major bases  | 74  |
| 7.1  | The process of derailment   | 92  |
| 7.2  | What major influences have helped you developas a manager?                  | 94  |
| 9.1  | Directive versus participative nontransactional andtransactional leadership | 120 |
| 9.2  | Directive versus participative transformationalleadership                   | 121 |
| 11.1 | Masculine versus feminine modes of leadership                                   | 147 |
| 11.2 | Key factors identified by top female executives                                 | 153 |
| 12.1 | Studies of destructive obedience to authority                                   | 160 |
| 12.2 | Rankings of a sample of national cultures usingHofstede's classification    | 162 |