

Table of Contents

I. Summary	9
a) Recent trade trends	9
b) OECD countries' trade barriers limiting CEEC and NIS export expansion to the OECD area	10
i) Tariffs	10
ii) Non-tariff barriers	10
iii) Other actions that may restrict trade	11
c) Domestic barriers in the CEECs and NIS limiting trade with the OECD area	11
II. Possible actions	12
III. The importance of trade with the OECD area for the CEECs and NIS	13
a) The OECD area represents the sole major source of expanding trade	13
b) Current OECD area trade surpluses are likely to persist	14
IV. OECD area tariff and non-tariff barriers facing CEEC and NIS exporters	15
a) Tariff barriers	15
b) Non-tariff barriers	15
i) The importance of sensitive product exports for the CEECs and NIS	16
ii) OECD area barriers facing sensitive product exports	16
c) Other actions that may restrict trade	17

V. Survey of some OECD area companies' views on impediments to expanding purchases from CEEC and NIS suppliers . . . . .	18
VI. Survey of domestic trade barriers confronting CEEC and NIS exporters . . . . .	20
a) OECD surveys of CEEC and NIS exporters . . . . .	21
b) Barriers largely related to the domestic infrastructure . . . . .	21
c) Barriers largely related to conditions on foreign markets . . . . .	22
d) Information barriers . . . . .	23
e) Barriers from underdeveloped financial institutions . . . . .	24
f) The relative importance of domestic and foreign barriers . . . . .	24
Notes and References . . . . .	27

Tables:

1. Growth of Eastern European and ex-USSR foreign trade by region, 1990-92 . . . . .	29
2a. OECD total trade with the CEECs and NIS, 1990-92 . . . . .	30
2b. Area shares in total OECD imports from the CEECs and NIS, 1992 . . . . .	30
2c. Area shares in total OECD exports from the CEECs and NIS, 1992 . . . . .	31
3. OECD Member country grants of MFN and GSP to the CEECs and NIS (early 1994) . . . . .	32
4. Preferential arrangements involving the CEECs . . . . .	33
5. NIS sensitive exports to non-NIS countries, 1990 . . . . .	34
6. OECD imports of agricultural products, 1992 . . . . .	35
7. OECD imports of textiles and apparel, 1992 . . . . .	36
8. OECD imports of chemicals, 1992 . . . . .	37
9. OECD imports of iron and steel, 1992 . . . . .	38
10. Estimated Nominal Assistance Coefficient in Consumption (NAC) for the OECD area, 1992 . . . . .	39

11. CEEC and NIS exporters' evaluations of the relative importance of selected western barriers in limiting their export expansion . . . . .	40
12. German firms' evaluations of the CEEC and NIS suppliers' abilities to satisfy business requirements: the difference between German firms that purchase and that do not purchase from the CEECs and NIS . . . .	41
13. CEEC and NIS exporters' evaluations of the effects of selected domestic infrastructure problems on export expansion . . . . .	42
14. CEEC and NIS exporters' evaluations of possible situations on foreign markets that could affect their export expansion . . . . .	43
15. CEEC and NIS exporters' evaluations of the importance of selected information barriers in limiting their export expansion . . . . .	44
16. CEEC and NIS exporters' evaluations of the relative importance of domestic barriers in the financial sector . . . . .	45
17. CEEC and NIS exporters' evaluations of the relative importance of domestic and foreign trade barriers to limiting export expansion . . . .	46