

Contents

---

Series adviser's preface	ix
Acknowledgements	xiv
1 Developing human resources for the twenty-first century	1
Introduction	1
The changing experience of work	3
Human resource management and human resource development	5
Human resource planning	8
Managing human resources in the twenty-first century	13
Summary	18
References	19
2 Devising human resource development strategies	20
Introduction	20
Why the need for HRD?	21
Getting investment in HRD	22
Organizational approaches to HRD	25
Identifying training and development needs	30
A competence-based approach to HRD	32
Putting HRD on the corporate map	39
Managing the HRD strategy	42
Summary	43
References	44
3 Putting human resource development strategies into     practice	45
Introduction	45
Models of HRD	45
Choosing and designing HRD activities	53
Examples of HRD	55
Summary	64
References	64
4 Auditing human resources	66
Introduction	66
Auditing existing resources	66
Planning for the future	71
Job analysis	74

Skill analysis	78
Diagnosing individual training and development needs	81
Summary	95
References	95
5 Making fair selection decisions	97
Introduction	97
Fair selection	98
Selection techniques	102
Selection as a social process	115
Developing a selection strategy	118
Summary	119
References	119
6 Managing career development	122
Introduction	122
Career planning and development	124
Organizational versus individual responsibility for career planning	126
Career management programmes	129
Career planning and development techniques	130
Management succession planning	135
Summary	140
References	141
7 Developing motivation and commitment	142
Introduction	142
Motivation as a process	143
The importance and value of outcomes	147
Content theories of motivation	150
The relation between job satisfaction and performance	153
Employee commitment	158
Summary	163
References	164
8 Building effective teams	165
Introduction	165
The contribution of teams	165
Building interpersonal skills	170
Building effective group skills	176
Enhancing performance through teamwork	181
The critical success factors of effective teamworking	186
Summary	187
References	188
9 Assessing and appraising performance	189
Introduction	189
Performance management systems	189

Performance related rewards	195
Performance measurement	197
Performance appraisal	202
Summary	209
References	210
10 Managing organization development and change	212
Introduction	212
Objectives of HRD	212
The role of HRD in managing change	218
The integrated use of HRD	222
What is organization development?	225
Strategic human resource development	228
Summary	234
References	236
Index	237