

Contents

	Page
Notes on the Contributors	i
Introduction: New Approaches to the Analysis of Occupational Segregation by Gender Petra Beckmann	 1
Economic Theories of Occupational Segregation by Sex – Implications for Change over Time Christina Jonung	 16
Gender Segregation and the Development of Economics Friederike Maier	 55
Theoretical and Measurement Issues in the Analysis of Occupational Segregation Catherine Hakim	 67
How to Measure and Compare Female Activity in the European Union Jacques A. Zighera	 89
Segregation Processes by Gender, the Case of the Electronic Data Processing Occupations Kea Tijdens	 106
Vocational Training and Gender-Specific Develop- ment of Income in West Germany: Examples of Horizontal and Vertical Segregation During the First Years of Employment Gerhard Engelbrech	 132
The Dynamics of Occupational Segregation in Comparative Context Colette Fagan and Jill Rubery	 153