

Contents

Illustrations	ix
Preface	xi
Introduction: Contemporary Human Geography—The Emergence of Structuration in Inequality Research David Wilson and James O. Huff	xiii
Part I. Issues in Structuration Theory and Application	1
1. Structuration Theory in Urban Analysis Michael J. Dear and Adam I. Moos	3
2. The Limits to Human Constructiveness: Giddens and Structuration Theory in Geography David Wilson	27
3. Structuration Theory and Electronic Communications Barney Warf	43

Part II. Empirical Applications

	59
4. Small Towns as Historical Places: A Symbolic Interactionist Approach to Structuration Theory through the Study of Landscape John A. Jakle	61
5. Context Is Everywhere: Structuration, Community, and Social Order John Eyles	85
6. Taking Control in the American West: An Application of Pred's Theory of Place Jefferson S. Rogers	105
7. Gender Relations in Urban Growth Politics Lynn A. Staeheli	129
8. Discursive Limits to Agency Joshua Van Lieu and John Paul Jones, III	149
9. The Reproduction of Racial Differences in Educational Achievement: A Structurationist Analysis Jeremy D. Browning	165
10. A Critical Analysis of Gender-based Property Relations in Ghana Cherub Antwi-Nsiah and James O. Huff	177
Concluding Remarks: "The Giddens Phenomenon"—Fuzzy Theory and Empirical Cutting Edges Eliza K. Ellis Husband	205
References	215
Index	237
About the Contributors	245