

Contents

Preface	vii
Contributors	ix
1 Behind the Crisis in Centrally Planned Economies Christine Rider and Mark Knell	1
2 Justifying the Need for Reform: The Price-Theoretic Approach Christine Rider	21
3 Transitions from Centrally Planned to Market Economies Christian Gehrke and Mark Knell	43
4 Michal Kalecki and Early Attempts to Reform the Polish Economy Tadeusz Kowalik	65
5 The Failure of Demand Management in Socialism Edward Nell	83
6 From a Command Toward a Market Economy: The Polish Experience Kazimierz Laski	117
7 The Market Transformation of State Enterprises Branko Horvat	140
8 Failure of Monetary Restriction in Hungary and Yugoslavia: A Post Keynesian Interpretation Shirley J. Gedeon	154
9 State Monopolies and Marketization in Poland Helena Sinoracka	170

10	Whatever Happened to the East German Economy? Heinz D. Kurz	191
11	Lessons from China on a Strategy for the Socialist Economies in Transition Mark Knell and Wenyan Yang	216
12	Conclusion: Implications for Socialist Economies in Transition Mark Knell and Christine Rider	236
	Index	244