Contents

Acknowledgments ix

1. Establishing a Sociology of Culture and Cognition 1
   Karen A. Cerulo

Section I: Sensation and Attention

Sensation and Attention: An Introduction 15

2. The Elephant in the Room: Notes on the Social 21
   Organization of Denial
   Eviatar Zerubavel

3. Signals and Interpretive Work: The Role of Culture in a Theory of Practical Action 28
   Diane Vaughan

Section II: Discrimination and Classification

Discrimination and Classification: An Introduction 57

4. Commensuration and Cognition 63
   Wendy Nelson Espeland

5. Preterm Babies in the “Mother Machine”: Metaphoric Reasoning and Bureaucratic Rituals that Finish the “Unfinished Infant” 89
   Nicole Isaacson

   Harrison C. White
Section III: Representation and Integration

Representation and Integration: An Introduction

7. Moral Inquiry in Cultural Sociology
   Robert Wuthnow
   123

8. Individualism...Pro Tem: Reconsidering U.S. Social Relations
   Karen A. Cerulo
   135

9. Tracking Discourse
   David L. Altheide
   172

10. How Storytelling Can Be Empowering
    William A. Gamson
    187

Section IV: Storage and Retrieval

Storage and Retrieval: An Introduction

11. Honor, Dignity, and Collective Memory: Judging the Past in Korea and the United States
    Barry Schwartz and MiYoung Kim
    209

    Gary Alan Fine
    227

Section V: Building Bridges

Building Bridges: An Introduction

13. Fixing a Foucault Sandwich: Cognitive Universals and Cultural Particulars in the Concept of Mental Disorders
    Jerome C. Wakefield
    245

14. Culture, Harmful Dysfunctions and the Sociology of Mental Illness
    Allan V. Horwitz
    267

15. Why Cognitive (and Cultural) Sociology Needs Cognitive Psychology
    Paul DiMaggio
    274

Appendix: Mapping the Field
   Karen A. Cerulo
   283

Contributors

Index