CONTENTS

1. Theoretical Foundations of Travel Choice Modeling: An Introduction
   Tommy Gärling, Thomas Laitila, and Kerstin Westin
   1

2. Individual and Collective Decision Making: Application to Travel Choice
   André de Palma
   33

3. Time and Income in Travel Choice: Towards a Microeconomic Activity-Based Theoretical Framework
   Sergio R. Jara-Díaz
   51

4. Extending Valuation to Controlled Value Functions and Non-Uniform Scaling with Generalized Unobserved Variances
   David A. Hensher
   75

5. The End of Equilibrium
   Phil Goodwin
   103

6. Microeconomic Theory: A Commentatory
   Staffan Alger
   133

Part 2. Behavioral Decision Theory

7. The Perspective from Behavioral Decision Theory on Modeling Travel Choice
   Ola Svenson
   141

8. Travel Choice in Congestions: Modeling and Research Needs
   Eliahu Stern
   173

9. Bounded Rationality in Comuter Decision Dynamics: Incorporating Trip
   Chaining in Departure Time and Route Switching Decisions
   Hani S. Mahmassani and Rong-Chang Jou
   201
10. Time in Travel Choice Modeling: From Relative Obscurity to Center Stage
    Eric I. Pas
    231

11. Two Computational Process Models of Activity-Travel Choice
    Ryuichi Kitamura and Satoshi Fujii
    251

12. Information Representation for Driver Decision Support Systems
    Mei-Po Kwan, Reginald G. Golledge, and Jon Speigle 281

13. Can We Ever Obtain the Data We Would Like to Have?
    Kay W. Axhausen
    305

    John Polak
    325

Part 3. Statistical Theory

15. Measuring Willingness-to-Pay for Transportation Improvements
    Daniel McFadden
    339

16. A Model of Household Choice of Activity Participation and Mobility
    Thomas F. Golob
    365

17. Household Travel Surveys: New Perspectives and Old Problems
    Peter R. Stopher
    399

18. Multiple Imputation Methodology for Missing Data, Non-Random Response, and Panel Attrition
    David Brownstone
    421

19. Forecasting Demand for New Travel Alternatives
    Andrew Daly and Charlene Rohr
    451

20. Statistical Theory: Summary and Future Research Possibilities
    Chandra Bhat
    473
