

CHAPTER 1

DEFINING, STUDYING, AND EXPLAINING JUVENILE DELINQUENCY 1

The Nature of Juvenile Delinquency	1
Juvenile Delinquency as a Social Problem	2
Measuring Juvenile Delinquency: Some Problems and Solutions	3
Official Records	3
Alternative Methods	5
Theoretical Perspectives on Delinquents and Delinquency	7
A Note on the Logic of Causal Thinking	8
The Nature of Human Nature	10
Levels of Explanation	11
Research Methods and the Generation of Knowledge	13
Theoretical Assumptions of Classical and Positivist Criminology	14
Levels of Explanation and the Organization of Knowledge	16

CHAPTER 2

CHILD SAVING:
HISTORICAL, LEGAL, AND SOCIAL CONTEXTS 19

Social Problems, the Public, and the Law	19
The Changing Status of Childhood	21

x CONTENTS

The Individual Level of Explanation 201
Systematic Testing of Individual Gang Boys 203
Early Socialization, Normative Ambiguity, and Delinquent Behavior 204
Conclusion 205

CHAPTER 10

DELINQUENCY AND SOCIETY 209

Introduction 209
Controlling Delinquency and Controlling Delinquents 209
The Historical Background 213
Federal Initiatives and Local Variations 214
Interpreting History and Research Evaluation 215
The Quest for Community 215
Community Careers in Delinquency 216
Recent Innovations 220
Later Studies of the Ecological Context 223
Communities and Social Class as a Categorical Risk 224
Community-Based Police Research and Innovation 224
Communities and Individual Careers in Crime 226
Theoretically Based Principles of Intervention 228
Conclusion 231

INDEX 235

Parens Patriae	22
Social Control of Children in the North American Colonies	23
The Discovery of the Asylum	24
The Police: Gatekeepers to the Juvenile Justice System	28
The Invention of Delinquency	29
Assessing the Juvenile Court Movement	30
The Reach of the Juvenile Court: Crime and More	33
Social Structure, Objective Conditions, and Juvenile Courts	36
Local Variations versus the Struggle for Uniformity in Standards and Practices	36
Conclusion	39

CHAPTER 3

PROCEDURAL REFORM 44

Introduction	44
The Legacy of Parens Patriae	44
Case Work Theory versus Juvenile Court Practice	47
Failure of Diagnostic Prediction	48
Failure of the Basic Mission of the Court	49
The United States Supreme Court Rules	49
Kent v. United States	50
In re Gault	50
Other Supreme Court Rulings	53
The Difference It Makes	53

CHAPTER 4

BEHAVIORAL CONTEXTS OF JUVENILE DELINQUENCY: POLICE AND JUVENILE COURTS 61

Introduction	61
The Reality of the Law	61
The Police—Gatekeepers of the System	62
The Screening Function of the Police	62
How Do the Police “Discover” Delinquency?	66
Influences on Police Disposition of Cases	66
Policing and the Police Subculture	67
The Police View	69
The Meaning and Uses of Streets from the Perspective of Gang Members	70

Police Decisions and Predictions: An Evaluation	71
Dilemmas, Paradoxes, and Possible Solutions	73
Police Professionalization	73
The Juvenile Court: Super-Parent Versus Back Up Institution	75
The National Assessment of Juvenile Corrections	75
Referrals to Juvenile Courts and Case Dispositions	75
Juvenile Court Goals and Priorities	77
The Task Environment of the Court	77
Adapting to Change	80
Community Settings, Agencies, and Delinquency	81

CHAPTER 5

SCHOOLS AND COMMUNITIES AS BEHAVIORAL SETTINGS FOR JUVENILE DELINQUENCY 84

Historical Note	84
Looking to the Court for Backup Authority	85
What Is to Be Explained?	86
Who Are the Offenders in School-Related Crime?	87
Serious Crime and Fear in Schools	88
School Crime, Social Control, and Social Change	89
The Community Context of Social Change	89
Community Settings and Juvenile Delinquency	91
Beyond Conformity or Rebellion: Youth and Authority in America	93
A Comparison of Black and White Gang Communities	98
Conclusion	102

CHAPTER 6

THE SOCIAL DISTRIBUTION OF DELINQUENT BEHAVIOR: PROBLEMS OF MEASUREMENT AND INTERPRETATION 106

Introduction	106
Limitations and Advantages of Alternative Methods	108
Behavior for which Juveniles Are Referred to Juvenile Courts	109
Age as a Categorical Risk	109
Arrest Rates	110
Comparing Official Delinquents with Officially Nondelinquent Youth	111
Age of Maximum Criminal Involvement	112
Gender as a Categorical Risk	112

Juvenile Court Data	113
Self-Report Gender Ratios	114
Gender Ratios of Arrests	115
Patterning of Delinquent Behavior Among Males and Females	115
Chronic Offenders	119
Race and Ethnicity as Categorical Risks	120
Social Class	122
Other Categorical Risks	123
The Collective Nature of Juvenile Delinquency	126
Categorical Risks and Group Offending	127
Career Delinquents and Delinquent Careers	128
On to Explanation	128

CHAPTER 7

MACROSOCIAL FORCES AND PRINCIPLES 133

Introduction	133
Comparative and Historical Studies	133
Political and Economic Theories	133
Marxist Theories	134
Culture, Social Structure, and Delinquent Subcultures	137
Social Change	138
Principles of Subcultural Formation	138
The Nature of Subcultures	139
Delinquent and Criminal Subcultures	139
Modernization Theory	140
Social Structure and Contemporary Culture	141
Alternative Adaptations to Socially Structured Disadvantage	142
Lower-Class Culture as a Generating Milieu of Gang Delinquency	143
Opportunity Structures and Delinquent Subcultures	143
Research on Delinquent Subcultures	145
Adult-Adolescent Relationships	146
Subcultural Themes and Delinquency	146
Further Observations of the Chicago Gang Communities	147
Gangs and Delinquent Subcultures	148
A Drug-Oriented Gang	148
Conflict Gangs	150
Property Crimes, Communities, and Delinquent Gangs	151
Categorical Risks, Subcultures, and Delinquency	152
Ecological and Demographic Trends	153
Demographic Factors	156
Routine Activities, Lifestyles, and Delinquent Behavior	157

CHAPTER 8

THE INDIVIDUAL IN THE EQUATION 162

- Biological Contributions: Historical Contexts 163
- The Advent of Intelligence Testing 164
- Somatotypes and Delinquent Behavior 164
- Recent Inquiries and a Conceptual Framework 165
- Accounting for Male/Female Differences in Delinquent Behavior 166
- Biological Pathologies as Causal Factors 166
- Biological Factors and Delinquent Labeling 167
- The Linkage of Common Biological and Social Characteristics 167
- Genetic Studies and a Biologically Based Theory of Learning 168
- Psychological Perspectives: Overview 169
- Delinquency as Learned Behavior 170
- Behavior Typologies 171
- Sociological Perspectives on Motivation and Learning 175
- Differential Association 175
- Role Theory, the Self, and Reference Groups 176
- Insights of the Labeling Perspective 178
- Social Control Theory 179
- Economic Theory 180
- On Bonds and Boundaries: What Can a Parent Do? 180
- On Boundary Maintenance, Labeling, and Parental Decision Making 181

CHAPTER 9

EXPLORATIONS IN THEORETICAL EXTENSION AND INTEGRATION 188

- Introduction 188
- Why Bother? 188
- Asking the Right Questions 190
- Theoretical Integration and Gray Areas of Knowledge 190
- Integrating “Down” to the Individual Level of Explanation 191
- Learning from Negative Cases 193
- Delinquency, Groups, and Collective Behavior 194
- The Microsocial Level of Explanation 196
- Situational Factors, Group Solidarity, and Behavior 198
- Microsocial and Macrosocial Influences on Individual-Level Decision Making 199
- The Importance of Cultural Differences 201