

Contents

| | | |
|-----------|--|-----|
| | List of figures and tables | iv |
| | Foreword | vii |
| | Introduction | xv |
| Chapter 1 | Setting the scene in Japan and the British Isles | 1 |
| - 2 | Women's working patterns in Japan | 23 |
| - 3 | Aspects of segregation for working women | 51 |
| - 4 | Economic versus social pressures | 86 |
| - 5 | Working women and their families | 116 |
| 6 | Working options for mothers | 143 |
| 7 | Japanese companies in Britain and Ireland | 171 |
| 8 | On the shop floor in Ireland, Britain and Japan | 197 |
| - 9 | Implications of Japanese employment for women | 224 |
| - 10 | Post-industrial employment for women | 249 |
| | Bibliography | 270 |
| | Appendix | 277 |
| | Index | 282 |

Figures and tables

Figures

| | |
|--|-----|
| 1.1 Female labour force participation rates by age – Ireland, Japan and the UK | 5 |
| 2.1 Changes in Japanese women's life cycle | 40 |
| 2.2 Trends in distribution of Japanese women employees by length of service | 47 |
| 4.1 'Men should be at work; women should be at home' – Japan | 97 |
| 6.1 Number of part-time working women in Japan | 149 |

Tables

| | |
|---|----|
| 1.1 Female labour force participation rates – Ireland, Japan and the UK | 4 |
| 1.2 Labour force composition – Britain and Japan | 7 |
| 1.3 Women's average earnings as a percentage of men's – Britain and Japan | 11 |
| 1.4 Range of earnings and medians – Britain and Japan | 13 |
| 2.1 Japanese women: status of employment | 30 |
| 2.2 Changes in Japanese women's economic activity rate by age and over time | 32 |
| 2.3 Participation rates for selected cohorts of Japanese women | 34 |
| 2.4 Trends in proportions of Japanese working women between main sectors | 44 |
| 3.1 Trends in ratio of Japanese female employees by occupation | 57 |

| | | |
|-----|---|-----|
| 3.2 | Distribution of working women by industry – Japan and the UK | 59 |
| 3.3 | Wage differentials in Japan by age and education | 70 |
| 3.4 | Wage differentials for mid-career recruits in Japan by age and education | 71 |
| 4.1 | Why Japanese women opt to work as part-timers | 95 |
| 4.2 | Why women are working in Japanese and British electronics companies | 96 |
| 4.3 | Views of when women should stay at home – international comparison | 99 |
| 4.4 | Labour force status of the population in Ireland, Japan and the UK | 104 |
| 5.1 | Child-care leave provisions in Japanese companies | 128 |
| 5.2 | Use of time by working women, men and housewives – Britain and Japan | 137 |
| 5.3 | Degree of satisfaction with time available for family among women and men in Japanese and British electronics companies | 139 |
| 6.1 | Part-time workers as a proportion of all employees – Ireland, Japan and the UK | 147 |
| 6.2 | Contribution of part-time employment to cumulative growth of female employment – Ireland, Japan and the UK | 147 |
| 6.3 | Average hours worked per week by self- employed females – Ireland, Japan and the UK | 166 |
| 9.1 | Worker attitudes in British and in Japanese electronics companies | 233 |