Contents

Preface and acknowledgments ........................................... vii
Contributors to the conference ........................................ xi
Abbreviations ............................................................ xiii

1 Introduction: the trade and environment debate
  1.1 Guide to the issues (Duncan Brack) .......................... 1
  1.2 Trade and environment after Singapore (Leon Brittan) ... 18

2 Trade versus environment: the evidence ......................... 26
  2.1 Introduction (Frits Schlingemann) ............................ 26
  2.2 Trade-related environmental measures: how much is a dolphin worth? (James Lee) ......................................... 27
  2.3 Competitiveness and investment (Jonathan Barton) ........ 49

3 Industry concerns ...................................................... 61
  3.1 Industry perspectives (John Canning, William Seddon-Brown, David Wakeford, David Wallis) .................................. 61
  3.2 Process and production methods (Charles Arden-Clarke) .... 72
  3.3 Developing-country perspectives (Veena Jha) ................. 78
  3.4 Trade and climate change policies (Duncan Brack) .......... 100
  3.5 Discussion ..................................................... 107

4 Resolving trade and environment disputes ....................... 108
  4.1 Introduction (Juan Carlos Sanchez Arnaud) .................. 108
  4.2 Lessons from the European experience (Damien Geradin) ... 112
  4.3 WTO dispute settlement: the environmental dimension
      (Jeffrey L. Gertler) ........................................ 118
5 Conclusion: the future .......................................................... 140
  5.1 Trade and environment in the WTO (Sabrina Shaw) .......... 140
  5.2 Industry perspective (Reinhard Quick) ......................... 148
  5.3 Developing-country perspective (Magda Shahin) ............ 150
  5.4 OECD perspective (Michael Reiterer) ......................... 163
  5.5 UNEP perspective (Hussein Abaza) ......................... 166
  5.6 The CTE: a renewed mandate for change or more dialogue?
       (James Cameron) .................................................. 168
  5.7 Discussion .......................................................... 186