Contents

Contributing Authors

Foreword
Orio Giarrini

1
Introduction
Henri Loubérgé

2
Borch's Theorem: A historical survey of applications
Jean Lemaire

Part I: Economics of Uncertainty

3
The role of securities and labor contracts in the optimal allocation of risk-bearing
Jacques H. Drèze

4
Proportional risk aversion and saving decisions under uncertainty
Georges Dionne, Louis Eeckhoudt, and Eric Briys

Part II: Economics of Information

5
The welfare economics of moral hazard
Richard Arnott and Joseph Stiglitz
6 Problems of equilibria in insurance markets with asymmetric information
Roland Eisen

7 Moral hazard and insurance market structure
Yoram Eden and Yehuda Kahane

8 The effects of organizational form on capital structure: The case of stock and mutual property-liability insurance firms
Prabir Datta and Neil A. Doherty

Part III: Economics of Insurance

9 Strategic growth and profit policy of insurance companies
Dieter Farny

10 (De)regulation of insurance markets
Lutgart van den Berghe

11 Price regulation and segmented insurance markets
J. Francois Outreville

12 The microstructure of the London insurance market
Robert L. Carter and Stephen R. Diacon

13 Do shares in other insurance companies reduce the solvency margin of an insurer?
Walter Karten

Author Index

Subject Index