

CONTENTS

Preface	vii
Foreword	ix
Acknowledgements	xi

CHRISTIANS IN A MULTICULTURAL SOCIETY

I	Medical Science in Thirteenth-Century Castile: Problems and Prospects	183–202
	Bulletin of the History of Medicine, 61. Baltimore, 1987
II	Nature and Science in Thirteenth-Century Castile. The Origins of a Tradition: The Franciscan and Dominican Studia at Santiago de Compostela (1222–1230)	1–44
	A shortened English translation of a former Spanish version published in: Arbor 153, (604–605), pp. 69–125. Madrid, 1996
III	Medical Licensing and Learning in Fourteenth-Century Valencia	1–123
	with M.R. McVaugh and A. Rubio Vela
	Transactions of the American Philosophical Society 79. Philadelphia, 1989

JEWS IN A CHRISTIAN SOCIETY

IV	Jewish Appreciation of Fourteenth-Century Scholastic Medicine	85–117
	with L. Ferre and E. Feliu
	Osiris 6. Philadelphia, 1990

V	Changes in the Regimina sanitatis . The Role of the Jewish Physicians Health, Disease and Healing in Medieval Culture , ed. S. Campbell, B. Hall and D. Klausner. New York, 1992	119–131
VI	Dietetic and Pharmacological Therapy: A Dilemma among Fourteenth-Century Jewish Practitioners in the Montpellier Area Clio Medica 22. Amsterdam, 1991	23–37
THE THREEFOLD INCOMPREHENSION
VII	A Marginal Learned Medical World: Jewish, Muslim and Christian Medical Practitioners, and the Use of Arabic Medical Sources in Late Medieval Spain Practical Medicine from Salerno to the Black Death , ed. L. García Ballester, R. French, J. Arrizabalaga and A. Cunningham. Cambridge, 1994	353–394
VIII	Academicism versus Empiricism in Practical Medicine in Sixteenth-Century Spain with Regard to Morisco Practitioners The Medical Renaissance of the Sixteenth-Century , ed. A. Wear, R.K. French and I.M. Lonie. Cambridge, 1985	246–270 338–342
IX	The Inquisition and Minority Medical Practitioners in Counter-Reformation Spain. Judaizing and Morisco Practitioners, 1560–1610 Medicine and the Reformation , ed. O.P. Grell and A. Cunningham. London and New York, 1993	156–191
	Addenda et Corrigenda	1–2
	Index	1–12

This volume contains xii + 374 pages
