Contents

Illustrations xi

Acknowledgments xiii

Contributors xv

Clio in the Clinic: An Introduction 3
JACALYN DUFFIN

Consulting the Past

The Night I Fell in Love with Clio 19
SHERWIN B. NULAND

Speculum medicinae: Reflections of a Medievalist-Clinician 27
WALTON O. SCHALICK, III

Facing Epidemics

A Wartime ‘Plague’ in Crotone 49
JOHN CULE

Plagues and Patients 56
ROBERT L. MARTENSEN

Coping with the HIV/AIDS Epidemic 73
CHARLES S. BRYAN
Reviving Defunct Diseases
‘La crise’ 89
ANNE MARIE MOULIN

Floating Kidneys 92
SANDRA W. MOSS

Historical Adventures in the Newborn Nursery: Forgotten Stories and Syndromes 105
JEFFREY P. BAKER

Susan and the Simmonds-Sheehan Syndrome: Medicine, History, and Literatures 116
CARLA C. KEIRNS

Recognizing New Diseases
The Histories of a History: The Boy, the Baron, and the Syndromes 131
MAX SHEIN

Who Says You Have to Crawl before You Walk? Sudden Infant Death Syndrome, Crawling, and Medical History 146
HOWARD MARKEL

Making a Diagnosis
An ‘Appallingly Sudden Death’ Explained Seventy-Six Years Later 161
T. JOCK MURRAY

One Blue Nun 170
JACALYN DUFFIN

Prescribing the ‘Right’ Treatment
William Withering’s Wonderful Weed 189
RICHARD J. KAHN

Dr Heisenberg, Are You Certain about the Diagnosis? 201
PAUL BERMAN
Explaining Differences
Trust and the Tuskegee Experiments 213
JOEL D. HOWELL

Beware the Poor Historian 226
MARGARET HUMPHREYS

We Are All Historians: Thoughts about Doing Psychiatry 236
GARY S. BELKIN

Confronting Futility
Timeless Desperation and Timely Measures 251
JOEL T. BRASLOW

A Brief History of Timelessness in Medicine 269
CHRISTOPHER CRENNER

How Medical History Helped Me (Almost) Love a V.A. Hospital 283
STEVEN J. PEITZMAN

When Clio Falters
What Do You Know? Cancer, History, and Medical Practice 299
BARRON H. LERNER

Seeing through Medical History 308
RUSSELL C. MAULITZ

Index 319
Illustrations

1  Clio 4
2  E-mail message 7
3  Clio 15
4  Professor and students, late fourteenth century 32
5  Examination of a child, twelfth century 36
6  A thirteenth-century patient 41
7  A medieval medical ‘clinic’ 42
8  The author in uniform 52
10 Theodore Brevard Hayne (1898–1930) 78
11 Hayne at work 79
12 Luke Fildes, ‘The Doctor’ 83
13 Displacement of the kidney 94
14(a+b) Corset application for floating kidneys 99
15 Operations for floating kidney 100
16 Healthy and infarcted pituitary 119
17 Susan’s electrocardiograms 121
18 Figurine of Baron von Münchhausen 135
19 ‘Tummy Time’ poster 148
20 ‘Back to Sleep’ poster 149
21 ‘Back to Sleep’ poster 150
22 Bess at age 7–8 months 153
23 Dr John Stewart (1848–1933) 162
24 Heinz bodies in red blood cells 177
25 Library, Pennsylvania Hospital 190
26 William Withering 193
27 Foxglove 195
Berman’s Box 202
Manuscript, 1838 204
Manuscript, 1839 205
Jewish men at Ellis Island 229
College gym turned infirmary, 1918 231
Patton State Hospital, circa 1900 261
The author’s parents operating, 1962 263
The author’s parents, 1962 264
‘Timelessness #4,’ by Matthew Scanlon 279
The old V.A. hospital, Philadelphia 286
Dr Steve and a patient 293
Pogo: ‘We have met the enemy’ 317