

Table of Contents

Preface

PART A: A Short History of Medicine in Jerusalem

Chapter One: Some information about medicine during Biblical times	3
Chapter Two: Some facts about medicine in Jerusalem during the Roman Period	9
Sanitation and hygiene	9
Purity and impurity	11
Professions Related to Medicine	11
Physicians	11
Pharmacists	13
Specialists	13
Medicine in the Temples	14
Chapter Three: From Byzantine Rule to Muslim Rule	22
The Byzantine Period (324-640)	23
Medicine Within the Monastic Movement	23
Hospitals	25
Consecrated institutions of healing	27
Leper Hospitals in Jerusalem	32
The First Muslim Period (640-1099)	33
Physicians, their status and medical training	34
The production of theriac in Jerusalem and the trade in materia medica	36
Chapter Four: The Crusader Period (until 1187)	39
The status of medicine and sanitation in Jerusalem in the early Crusader Period	39
Mortality from disease	40
The Medical Services of the Eastern Christians	43
Medical services of the Frankish Christians	44
The medical services of the military orders	46
The Order of Hospitallers	46
Care of the sick	52
Separate treatment for men and women	55
Medical staff and rules of ethics	55
Statues of the Order: Actual versus ideal	59
Financing the hospital's expenses	59
The Order of Teutonic Knights	60
The Order of Lepers (St. Lazarus)	62
The Crusaders and Muslim medicine	64
Summary	67

Chapter Five: The Ayyubid Period (1187-1250)	69
Introduction	69
Medicine in Jerusalem: Between the Franks and the Ayyubs	71
The hospital	74
Physicians in Jerusalem during the Ayyubid period	76
Physicians in Jerusalem who served the Ayyubid sultanate	77
The Jewish physicians	78
The Eastern Christian physicians	78
 Chapter Six: The Mamluk Period (1260-1517)	 81
 Chapter Seven: Medicine in Jerusalem during the Ottoman Period (until the end of the 18th century)	 87
The physicians	87
The medical staff at the St. Saviour Franciscan Monastery in Jerusalem	89
The status of physicians	90
Professional training	90
The number of physicians in Jerusalem	92
Institutions of healing	93
Public medicine	94
Community medicine	95
Bikkur Holim	96
The Franciscan medical institution and the Balm of Jerusalem	98
Private medicine	102
Curing mental illness and magical medicine	103
Curing the sick of other religions	106
Sanitary conditions in Jerusalem	108
The public baths	110
The standard of medicine in Jerusalem	111
Materia medica	116
The Burgeoning European medicine in Ottoman Jerusalem	118
 Epilogue – The beginnings of modern medicine in Jerusalem	 123
Jewish institutions of healing	123
Other institutions of healing	125
Selected bibliography for the chapter	125
 Part B: Physicians in Jerusalem in the Tenth to Eighteenth Centuries
List of physicians in Jerusalem in the 10 th – 18 th centuries	129
Bibliography	147
Index	157