

Contents

Contributors	v
A message from the President of the Royal College of Physicians	vii
A message from the Chairman of the Jerwood Foundation	viii
Editors' preface	ix
Foreword by Lara Dose, Director of the National Network for the Arts in Health	xi
1 The healing environment: without and within Deborah Kirklin	1
2 Healing by design: feeling better? John Wells-Thorpe	11
3 Building healing environments: an historical perspective Ruth Richardson	25
4 'Take Art': opening the doors of the National Gallery Ghislaine Kenyon	41
5 Integrating the arts into health care: can we affect clinical outcomes? Rosalia Staricoff and Susan Loppert	63
6 The effect of colour and design in hydrotherapy: designing for care Jane Duncan	81
7 The Mind Arts Project in Stockport: community arts in action Michael Anderson	101

8	Mainlining with Trainspotting: using literature to enter other worlds	125
	Claire Elliott
9	The tattooed intruder: in search of a healing environment	137
	Michele Petrone
10	Instinct and effort: caring for an ill child	143
	Michael Rowe
11	Poetry and caring: healing the within	153
	John Fox
12	The medical paradigm: changing landscapes	179
	Roger Higgs
	Epilogue by Professor Sir Kenneth Calman	207
	Further reading	211
	Copyright acknowledgements	215
	Index	217