

CONTENTS

| | | |
|--|---|-----|
| Ph. v. ENGELDORP GASTELAARS/ S. MAGALA/O. PREUß | Why should we Link Critical Theory and Managerial Sciences? | 3 |
| S. MAGALA | Elective Affinities: Criticism and the Growth of Organizations | 7 |
| M. ALVESSON & H. WILLMOTT | Critical Theory and the Sciences of Management | 23 |
| J. FORESTER | The Contemporary Relevance of Critical Theory to Public Administration: Promises and Problems | 75 |
| R. ERÄSAARI | Network Society as a New Critical Concept? | 91 |
| B. CZARNIAWSKA- JOERGES | Rationality as an Organizational Product: On Multiple Rationalities and Organizational Learning | 109 |
| J. COHEN | Dualistic Critical Theory and Contemporary Social Movements | 135 |
| P. GUNDELACH | New and Old Social Movements: The Need for New Theories | 151 |
| L. NAUTA | Vom Nutzen und Nachteil der Kritischen Theorie für das gesellschaftliche Leben | 171 |
| D. HOWARD | Critical Theory and the Critique of Democracy | 181 |
| B. TURNER | The Academy and the Intelligence of Feeling | 193 |
| | Notes on the authors | 209 |