

CONTENTS

I. Introduction

- A. Current labour market developments
- B. A general view of the German system of protection against dismissal
  - 1. Individual protection against dismissal
  - 2. Participation of the works council in dismissals
  - 3. Mass dismissals
- C. Current critique of the German system of dismissal protection

II. Components of protection against dismissal

- A. Protection of the individual against dismissal: the social justification for the dismissal
  - 1. Dismissal connected with person, misconduct and operational grounds
  - 2. In particular: dismissal for operational reasons
    - a. Operational ground
    - b. Cessation of a job
    - c. Possibility of other employment within the enterprise
    - d. Exceptional cases
    - e. Social selection in accordance with § 1 sub-para 3 DPA
  - 3. Scope of the provision
    - a. Minimum duration of employment
    - b. Scope of application in establishments
    - c. Area of personal application
- B. Fixed-term employment contract
- C. Personal protection against dismissal for specified groups of employees
  - 1. Special protection against dismissal by means of legislation
  - 2. Protection against dismissal in accordance with collective agreements

D. Personal protection against dismissal by means of periods of notice

E. Participation of representatives of collective interests in dismissals

1. General
2. Hearing
3. Misgivings and objection of the works council against dismissal

F. The action in protection against dismissal

1. Empirical evidence
2. Principles of the legal determination
3. The legal action for protection against dismissal
4. Claim to continued employment
5. Judgement in the case of protection against dismissal

G. Mass dismissals, plant closure and social compensation plan

1. Legal regulations concerning protection against dismissal in mass dismissals
2. Reconciliation of interests and social compensation plan
  - a. Alteration of the establishment
  - b. Reconciliation of interests
  - c. Social compensation plan
  - d. Social compensation plan and protection against dismissal in bankruptcy

III. Economic analysis

A. Economic reasons for dismissal protection

1. Economic meaning of permanent employment
2. Dismissal protection as an instrument to improve the efficiency of the employment relationship

B. Economic effects of dismissal protection

- 1. Effects of dismissal protection on decisions of recruitment and termination
  - a. A transaction-cost approach
  - b. Dismissal protection and effects on recruitment decisions
  - c. Dismissal protection and effects on decision of dismissal
- 2. Dismissal protection and substitution possibilities: fixed-term contracts
- 3. Effects of dismissal protection on labour turnover and on non-contractors
  - a. Dismissal protection and labour turnover
  - b. External effects of dismissal protection on non-contractors
- 4. On relations of flexibility, rigidity and stability

IV. General Evaluation

- A. The system of dismissal protection in the FRG and constraints on flexibility
  - 1. Limitation through periods of notice and social compensation plan
  - 2. The regulating in substantive law of dismissal concerning misconduct and person
  - 3. No restriction to flexibility by means of the substantive law regulation of dismissal on operational grounds
  - 4. Limitation of flexibility due to "transaction costs"
- B. Discussion of alternative forms of regulating job termination
  - 1. Regulation by labour legislation vs. contract at will
  - 2. Proposals for amendment of statutory dismissal protection

Abbreviations

Literature