

Table of contents

List of figures and tables.....	10
List of abbreviations.....	12
Acknowledgements.....	13
Map of Iceland.....	15
Map of Faxabay.....	16
Introduction.....	17
1. Theory and methods.....	20
Introduction: sociology and history.....	20
1. Transition of production relations.....	23
2. Classes and class formation.....	26
3. From similarity to solidarity.....	29
Trade unions and organization.....	30
Employers and associations.....	32
Method and sources.....	35
Previous studies on Iceland.....	35
Primary sources.....	37
2. The pre-capitalist social structure.....	41
Introduction.....	41
The economic structure.....	41
Social obstacles to change.....	44
Land dependency.....	45
Landowners.....	48
Trade.....	49
A locked system.....	50
The role of the state.....	51
Althingi.....	52

The communes.....	52
The Crown.....	56
Summary.....	57
3. New social forces.....	58
Introduction.....	58
The context of the transition.....	58
Demographic conditions.....	59
Changes in the late nineteenth century.....	61
1. Emigration.....	61
2. The disregard for laws.....	62
3. The changing role of the state.....	65
Division within the state.....	65
The class character of Althingi.....	67
4. Technological changes.....	70
Vessels.....	72
"Urbanization".....	73
Social origins of Icelandic employers.....	76
Ownership and employment.....	76
Money.....	80
Salt.....	80
Debts.....	80
Costs.....	81
Summary and conclusion.....	82
4. Vessel owners unite.....	84
Introduction.....	84
Vessel owners' earliest organizational attempts.....	85
Vessels in Faxabay.....	87
Vessel owners in Faxabay organize.....	87
Geographical location.....	90
ÚF's breakdown.....	91
Social composition of membership.....	93
Merchants.....	95
Farmers.....	96
Captains.....	97
Non-joiners.....	98
ÚF's purpose, activities and problems.....	99

1. Terms of employment.....	100
ÚF's failure.....	102
Labour shortage.....	104
Differences between ÚF members.....	107
2. ÚF, the state and other organizations.....	108
3. General activities.....	109
Conclusion.....	110
5. Competition or cooperation?.....	112
Introduction.....	112
The social situation of merchants.....	112
The specificity of Reykjavík.....	116
The Reykjavík Merchant Association.....	117
Purpose and structure.....	118
Membership development.....	120
Social composition.....	122
KR's activities.....	123
KR and the state.....	124
Regulation of competition.....	127
Regulation of class relations.....	128
Conclusion.....	130
6. The Icelandic Chamber of Commerce.....	132
Introduction.....	132
The Chamber of Commerce established.....	133
Membership development.....	133
Geographical distribution of membership.....	135
The problems of organizing merchants.....	138
Success in Reykjavík?.....	140
Cooperatives.....	142
Ideological obstacles.....	143
Other members.....	144
Trawler firms.....	144
Industry.....	144
VÍ's activities.....	145
VÍ and the state.....	147
Conclusion.....	150

7. Trawler owners	152
Introduction.....	152
The development of the trawler industry.....	152
The Association of Icelandic Trawler Owners.....	154
Purpose and structure.....	156
Membership development.....	158
The non-joiners in Reykjavík.....	159
The non-joiners in Hafnarfjörður.....	160
Attempts to reinvigorate FÍB.....	161
The role of the big companies.....	162
The individual owners.....	163
FÍB's activities.....	165
FÍB and the unions.....	165
FÍB and other employers.....	167
FÍB and the state.....	169
Conclusion.....	170
8. Unity at last?	172
Introduction.....	172
The Confederation of Icelandic Employers.....	173
Political situation.....	174
Organizational difficulties.....	177
The depression.....	178
Conclusion.....	178
9. Similarity and identity	180
Introduction.....	180
The group as a whole.....	181
Social background.....	181
Foreign domination?.....	182
The meeting places of the bourgeoisie.....	184
1. Religion.....	184
2. Politics.....	185
3. Other organizations.....	186
The roads to employer status.....	187
Assistants.....	189
Artisans.....	191
Captains.....	193

Professionals.....	195
Farmers.....	196
Others.....	197
The capitalists.....	198
Concluding remarks.....	200
10. Summary and conclusions.....	203
The transition to capitalism.....	203
Capitalist class organizations.....	205
The importance or non-importance of "class".....	210
Strong or weak capitalists.....	215
Appendix 1. ÚF.....	217
A. ÚF's boards.....	217
B. ÚF members.....	221
C. Non-joiners.....	223
D. Faxabay vessels and their owners 1897-1911.....	225
Appendix 2. KR.....	230
A. KR's boards and the Council.....	230
B. KR members.....	233
Appendix 3. VÍ.....	237
A. VÍ's boards.....	237
B. VÍ members.....	239
Appendix 4. FÍB.....	256
A. FÍB's boards.....	256
B. FÍB members.....	259
C. Non-joiners.....	266
Bibliography.....	269
I. Unpublished sources.....	269
II. Published sources.....	270

List of figures and tables:

Figure 3.1	Population growth in Iceland 1840-1920	59
Figure 3.2	Icelandic exports 1881-1935 by origin	70
Table 3.1	Number and size of urban localities in Iceland 1890-1940	74
Figure 4.1	Number of members in ÚF 1894-1912	88
Table 4.1	Geographical location of ÚF members in 1894 and 1907	90
Figure 4.2	Membership in ÚF in relation to the number of vessels	92
Table 4.2	Social composition of vessel owners in Faxabay	94
Figure 4.3	Faxabay vessels 1897-1911 divided among owner groups	95
Figure 4.4	Number of deckhands in Faxabay 1897-1907	105
Figure 5.1	The number of stores in Iceland 1863-1911, in foreign or domestic ownership	113
Figure 5.2	The number of stores in Reykjavík 1863-1911	118
Figure 5.3	Number of stores in Reykjavík and KR members 1902-1932	121
Table 5.1	Prior occupation of members of the Reykjavík Merchant Association 1899-1932 in percentage	123
Table 5.2	Number of inhabitants per store in Reykjavík	128
Figure 6.1	Number of members in the Icelandic Chamber of Commerce 1917-1933	134
Figure 6.2	Membership in the Icelandic Chamber of Commerce divided between Reykjavík and the rest of Iceland	136
Figure 6.3	Financial contributions to the Icelandic Chamber of Commerce geographically divided	137
Figure 6.4	Number of merchants who were members in the Icelandic Chamber of Commerce related to the number of stores in Iceland	139

Figure 6.5	Number of stores in Reykjavík related to the number of merchants in Reykjavík who were members in the Chamber of Commerce	140
Figure 6.6	Number of wholesale merchants in Iceland 1917-1933 and number of wholesale merchants that were members in the Chamber of Commerce	141
Figure 7.1	Number of trawlers operated from Iceland 1912-1933	153
Figure 7.2	Membership in the Association of Trawler Owners 1916-1933 related to the number of Icelandic trawlers	158
Table 7.1	Occupation of Icelandic trawler owners	164
Table 9.1	Occupation of the fathers of the first employers in Iceland	181
Table 9.2	Prior occupation of the first Icelandic employers	187
Table 9.3	Occupation of the fathers of Icelandic employers in relation to the employers' prior occupation	188
Table 9.4	Social involvement of the first Icelandic employers in relation to prior occupation (%)	188
Table 9.5	Division of artisans who became employers	192
Table 9.6	Educational background of professionals who became employers	195
Table 9.7	Prior occupation of the first Icelandic capitalists and employers as a whole	199
Table 9.8	Social involvement of the first Icelandic capitalists compared with all employers	200