

Chapter One Introduction: Plutocracy and Mob Rule 3

PART I THE PSYCHOLOGY AND ECONOMICS OF MOTIVATION

Chapter Two Between Strain and Boredom 15

Arousal 16

Personality 25

Arousal Reduction 28

Chapter Three The Pursuit of Novelty 31

Physical Stimulation 31

Mental Stimulation 32

Some of the Evidence 36

Threat 40

Measurement 42

Attention 44

Redundancy 46

Signs and Supersigns 52

Uncertainty 56

Chapter Four Comfort Versus Pleasure 59

The Seduction of Pleasure 63

The Seduction of Comfort 70

- Free Choice Between Comfort and Pleasure 75
 Comfort and Stimulation 78

Chapter Five Enter Economics 80

- Self-Sufficiency 81
 Mutual Stimulation 82
 Market Goods and Services 84
 External Benefits and External Nuisances 85
 Non-Market Goods and Services 86
 Work as Self-Stimulation 89
 The Importance of the Economic Product 102

Chapter Six Necessities and Comforts 106

- Necessities and Luxuries 107
 Defensive and Creative Products 108
 Some of the Comforts 112
 The Comfort of Belonging 114
 The Comfort of Being Useful 120
 The Comfort of Sticking to Our Habits 124
 What it Means to Become Spoiled 131

Chapter Seven Income and Happiness 133

- "Rankhappiness" 134
 Whatever Made Us Believe Income Yields Happiness? 140

PART II THE AMERICAN WAY OF LIFE

Chapter Eight Is Our Life Too Good? 149

- The Economy of Effort 154
 The Economy of Time 161
 The Purchase of Health 165
 The Economy of Care and Bother 170

Chapter Nine Is Our Life Too Dull? 182

- Food 182
 Vacations 190
 Company 195
 A Conflict 197

Chapter Ten Our Puritan Ghost 204

- The Moral Superiority of Production and Money-Making 206
- The Neglect of Housekeeping 212
- Puritan Intolerance 215

Chapter Eleven Our Disdain for Culture 224

- The Meaning of Culture 226
- The Puritan Attitude Toward Culture 228
- Production Skills Versus Consumption Skills 229
- The Rational Bias Against Culture 230
- Skilled Versus Unskilled Stimulus Enjoyment 232
- The Art of Conversation 236
- What Do You Know? 239

Chapter Twelve What's Wrong with Mass Production? 248

- The Monotony of Products 249
- The Banalization of Art 258

Chapter Thirteen What's Wrong with Specialization? 264

- The Decline of the Generalist 269
- Producers' Choice 272
- Artists' Choice 275
- Decorating 277
- Tourism 280

Chapter Fourteen The End of Sexism and Revival of the Generalist? 283

- Do It Yourself 284
- Women's Liberation 286
- Where Do We Stand? 288

Appendix: Culture Is a Good Thing 291

Notes 309

Index 328