

Contents

Acknowledgements	vii
Introduction	ix
Part One Cognitive Relativism: Rules of Argument and Theoretical Problems
1. Social Scientific Epistemological Discourse: The Problem of Relativism Volker Meja and Nico Stehr	1
2. Psychological versus Structural Validity: The Case of Ethnoscience Arie de Ruijter	15
3. How Useful Is Anthropological Self-Reflection? Jan Willem Bakker	35
4. Conceptual Variation and Conceptual Relativism in the Social Sciences Christopher G.A. Bryant	51
5. A Neglected Giant: Max Weber and the Strong Program Lieteke van Vucht Tijssen	69
Part Two Cognitive Relativism and the Philosophy of Knowledge
6. Science Beyond Realism and Relativism Mary Hesse	91
7. Defense of Cognitive Relativism: Realism, Idealism and Nominalism Diederick Raven	107
8. Realism, Relativism and Finitism Barry Barnes	131
9. Relativity as Contestation David Parkin	149
Part Three Substantive Issues: Implications and Applications of Cognitive Relativism
10. Relativism, Specificity and Universals C.A. van Peursen	165

11. Objectivism versus Relativism: What Are We Arguing About? Rik Pinxten	181
12. Dreamtime: Relativism and Irrationality in the Work of Hans Peter Duerr Jan de Wolf	193
13. Planning in a Rocking Boat Douwe van Houten	209
14. Relativism, Morality, and Feminist Thought Derek L. Phillips	227
Conclusion	243
Bibliography	261
List of Contributors	291
Index	293