

Contents

PREFACE / ix

INTRODUCTION

1 Indians and Europeans at the time of contact / 3

PART ONE: COOPERATION

2 Early contacts in the eastern woodlands / 23

3 Commercial partnership and mutual benefit / 41

4 Military allies through a century of warfare / 59

PART TWO: COERCION

5 From alliance to irrelevance / 83

6 Reserves, residential schools, and the threat of assimilation / 99

7 The commercial frontier on the western plains / 116

8 Contact, commerce, and Christianity on the Pacific / 136

- 9 Resistance in Red River and the numbered treaties / 152
- 10 The Northwest Rebellion of 1885 / 170
- 11 The policy of the Bible and the plough / 189

PART THREE: CONFRONTATION

- 12 The beginnings of political organization / 211
- 13 Political relations after the white paper / 230
- 14 Aboriginal rights, land claims, and the struggle to survive / 249
- 15 Do we learn anything from history? / 267

EPILOGUE

- 16 Indian summer: From Meech Lake to Oka / 289

NOTES / 309

SELECTED BIBLIOGRAPHY / 329

INDEX / 339

PICTURE CREDITS / 353

MAPS

- Indian nations of Canada / xii
- Indian nations of northeastern North America at contact / 5
- The Ohio and Illinois country, 1754 / 64
- French possessions in North America, 1750 / 66
- Effect of the Royal Proclamation of 1763 / 72
- Location of western nations, 1821 / 118
- Indian nations of British Columbia / 138
- The numbered treaties, 1871-1921 / 166
- Northwest uprising, 1885 / 181

ILLUSTRATIONS

following 207