Contents

Preface vii
Acknowledgments x
Interview: Notes on the Post-Business Society 1

PART I. ECONOMICS

1. The Futures Already Around Us 13
2. The Poverty of Economic Theory 22
3. The Transnational Economy 27
4. From World Trade to World Investment 32
5. The Lessons of the U.S. Export Boom 37
6. Low Wages: No Longer a Competitive Edge 42
7. Europe in the 1990s: Strategies for Survival 47
8. U.S.-Japan Trade Needs a Reality Check 52
9. Japan’s Great Postwar Weapon 56
10. Misinterpreting Japan and the Japanese 61
11. Help Latin America and Help Ourselves 67
12. Mexico’s Ace in the Hole: The Maquiladora 72
PART II. PEOPLE

13. The New Productivity Challenge 79
14. The Mystique of the Business Leader 96
15. Leadership: More Doing Than Dash 100
16. People, Work, and the Future of the City 104
17. The Rise and Fall of the Blue-Collar Worker 109
18. On Ending Work Rules and Job Descriptions 114
19. Making Managers of Communist Bureaucrats 119
20. China’s Nightmare: No Jobs for the Millions 124

PART III. MANAGEMENT

21. Tomorrow’s Managers: The Major Trends 131
22. How to Manage the Boss 137
23. What Really Ails the U.S. Auto Industry 141
24. Manage by Walking Around—Outside! 146
25. Corporate Culture: Use It, Don’t Lose It 150
26. Permanent Cost Cutting: Permanent Policy 155
27. What the Nonprofits Are Teaching Business 160
28. Nonprofit Governance: Lessons for Success 171
29. The Nonprofits’ Outreach Revolution 180

PART IV. THE ORGANIZATION

30. The Governance of Corporations 187
31. Four Marketing Lessons for the Future 201
32. Tomorrow’s Company: Dressed for Success 205
33. Company Performance: Five Telltale Tests 210
34. R & D: The Best Is Business-Driven 215
35. Sell the Mailroom: Unbundling in the ’90s 220
36. The 10 Rules of Effective Research 224
37. The Trend Toward Alliances for Progress 229
39. The Emerging Theory of Manufacturing 240

Afterword: The 1990s and Beyond 255
The Changing World Economy/The Knowledge Society/Innovation and Entrepreneurship/Personal Effectiveness
Index 283