

1	A Diagnostic Approach to Human Resource Management	1
PART ONE
	ASSESS CONDITIONS, PLAN AND SET OBJECTIVES	25
2	External Conditions	27
3	Organization Conditions	61
4	Employee Characteristics	97
5	Planning and Evaluation	138
PART TWO
	EXTERNAL STAFFING	174
6	External Recruiting	179
7	External Employee Selection	236
8	Turnover	307

CONTENTS

PART THREE

EMPLOYEE DEVELOPMENT 349

9
Internal Staffing and Careers	351
10
Training	406

PART FOUR

COMPENSATION 457

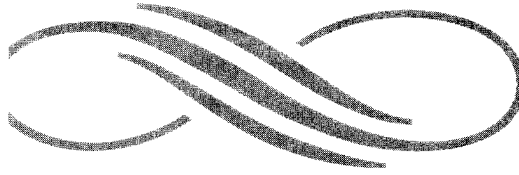

11
The Pay System	459
12
Paying Individual Employees	499
13
Benefits	539

PART FIVE

EMPLOYEE/LABOR RELATIONS 565

14
Unions	567
15
Employee Relations	603
16
The Evolving Human Resource Management Profession	640
Name Index	675
Subject Index	685

C O N T E N T S

CHAPTER 1
A Diagnostic Approach to Human Resource Management	1
Why Human Resources Are Critical	2
Integrated Decisions . . .	2
. . . That Influence Effectiveness	3
Integrating Efficiency and Equity	5
Valuing Human Resources as Assets	5
Separating HRM Costs and Payoffs from Other Initiatives	5
Payoffs as Expense Avoided	8
Expense of Doing Nothing	9
HR Activities Pay Off	9
The HR Practitioner	9
Service	10
Advocate	11
Business Partner/Change Agent	12
A Diagnostic Approach	13
An HR Example	13
Assess Conditions	15
External Conditions	15
Organization Conditions	15
Employee Conditions	15
Plan and Set Objectives	16
HRM Activities	16
Staffing: From an Employee to Teams	16
Development: From Training to Continuous Learning	16
Compensation: From Wages to Total Labor Costs and Rewarding Performance	17
Employee/Union Relations: From Labor Relations to Governance	17
Evaluating Results	18

The Employment Relationship	18
The “New Deal”: Myth or Fact?	19
Managing a Breached Contract	19
Combine the Diagnostic Approach with Theoretical and Technical Knowledge	20

PART ONE

ASSESS CONDITIONS, PLAN AND SET OBJECTIVES 25

CHAPTER 2

External Conditions 25

Intertwined Forces Build the Employment Relationship	28
Government as a Third Party in the Employment Relationship	28
Regulations Reflect Society	28
Shaping Legislation	30
Worldwide Changes in the Employment Relationship	30
Global Comparisons	31
Managerial Autonomy	31
Ownership and Financial Markets	33
Union and Employee Involvement	33
An Increasingly Diverse Employee Population	34
Employee Trends: Immigration	35
Employee Trends: The African-American Experience	35
Employee Trends: Women in the Workforce	36
An Expanding Notion of Fairness	37
Defining Discrimination	37
Title VII of the Civil Rights Act	37
Exceptions to Title VII	38
Preferences and Quotas: The Public Debate	40
Evaluating Compliance	40
Availability Analysis	40
Establish Goals	43
Programming to Achieve Goals: Affirmative Action	43
Ensure Compliance	43
We’re Not What We Used to Be	44
Unequal Occupations, Unequal Incomes	44
The Glass Ceiling	46
Valuing Diversity	48
Pressures for Diversity Programs	48
The Role of HRM	48
Managers and Leaders	50
Training	51

Other Countries, Other Perspectives	52
Diversity Is Not a Universal Goal	52
The European Approach	53
Canada	54
Differential Impact and Responses to Uncertainty	54
Your Turn: Levi Strauss	56

CHAPTER 3

Organization Conditions	61
Nature of the Organization	62
Financial Condition	63
Technology and Productivity	63
Business Strategy	64
Organization Design	65
Networks	68
HR Decisions That Fit Organization Design	68
Nature of the Work	69
Designing Work	69
Human Relations	69
Work Characteristics Models	70
High-Performance Work Systems	71
Go with the Flow	72
Reengineering	72
Is This Change Really Necessary?	74
Teams: A Fundamental Building Block	74
Building Blocks or Stumbling Blocks?	76
Yosh!	77
Nature of the Job	78
Job Analysis	79
Collecting the Data	79
Job Descriptions	84
Generic Descriptions: Flexibility versus Fences	84
Is Job Analysis Useful?	86
Yes, But Is It Really Useful?	86
Focus on the Person, Not the Job: Competencies	87
Your Turn: Astra-Merck	90
Appendix: Job Analysis Procedures	91

CHAPTER 4
Employee Characteristics	97
Employee Characteristics	99
Performance	99
Why Measure Performance, a “Deadly Disease”?	100
What Performance to Measure	103
How to Measure Performance	105
Who Should Judge Performance?	112
When to Assess Performance: Timing Is Everything	116
How to Communicate Performance Assessment: It’s All in How You Say It	117
How to Evaluate Whether Performance Assessment Works	118
More Than Just Performance: Employee Withdrawal	123
Absenteeism	124
Separations and Turnover	125
Employee Attitudes and Opinions	126
Your Turn: Appraising Quality Performance at Ford Motor Company	129
CHAPTER 5
Planning and Evaluation	138
Planning, Setting Objectives, and Evaluating Results	140
Planning Is Diagnostic Decision Making	141
The Four Planning Questions	141
Why Human Resource Planning?	142
Planning Links Human Resources and the Organization	143
Planning Links Actions and Consequences	143
Calculating the Return on Investment in Human Resources	143
Planning Integrates Human Resource Activities	146
Do Human Resources “Fit” to Strategy, or Does One Size Fit All?	146
Can Human Resources Provide a Competitive Advantage?	147
How Human Resource Planning Fits the Broader Planning Process	148
Planning from Mars	148
The Environment	149
The Organization	150
Human Resource Quantity and Deployment	152
Human Resource Department/Function	153
Specific Human Resource Management Activities	154
Employment Planning: The Quantity and Deployment of Human Resources	155
How to Measure Human Resource Demand and Supply	155
Demand Analysis: Where Do We Want to Be?
Internal Supply Analysis: Where Are We Now? Where Will We Be?	156
External Supply Analysis: Who Is Joining the Organization? Who Will Be Joining?	162

Objectives and Evaluation Standards: How Did We Do?	165
What Makes a Good Objective/Standard?	166
Your Turn: Planning for the Shortage of Petroleum Engineers	169

PART TWO

EXTERNAL STAFFING	174
--------------------------	-----

CHAPTER 6

External Recruiting	179
---------------------	-----

Recruiting: The Beginning of the Staffing Process	181
The Applicant's Job-Search Process	184
Choosing an Occupation	184
Seeking Information about Jobs/Organizations	186
Choosing a Job/Organization	186
Conflicting Goals for Applicants and Employers	186
The End of Permanent Employment?	187
On the "Web": Career Help for the Contingent Worker	190
Choosing Applicant Qualifications: Beyond Tradition	192
Tapping the Older Workforce	192
Creating Opportunities for the Disabled	193
Removing Barriers for Discouraged Workers	193
Tapping Applicants with Minimum Basic Skills	194
Choosing Recruitment Sources and Communication Channels	195
Walk-ins	196
Referrals	196
College Recruiting	198
Choosing Schools	198
Attracting Applicants	200
Other Educational Institutions	202
Public Employment Agencies	204
Private Employment Agencies and Headhunters	204
Professional Associations	205
Cyber-Recruitment: Finding Your Dream Job on the Internet	205
Advertising	205
Immigrants	207
Which Sources Work Best?	208
Choosing Inducements	208
Choosing the Message: Realism versus Flypaper	210

Choosing and Preparing Recruiters	211
Evaluating Recruitment	213
Efficiency	213
Productivity and Tenure	213
Equity	214
Actual Recruiting Evaluation Practices	214
Your Turn: Happy Meal Recruitment Advertising	217
Appendix: A Diagnostic Approach to Your Own Job Search	218

CHAPTER 7

External Employee Selection	236
External Selection	238
Objectives for External Selection	240
Developing an External Selection Strategy	241
Validity: How Well Information Predicts the Future
Validity Coefficient	241
Choosing Selection Techniques	246
Application Forms and Resumes	246
Reference and Background Checks	251
Life-History Information	252
Interviews	256
Ability Tests	266
Legality and Equity	270
Job Knowledge Tests, Work Samples, and Job Tryouts	271
Physical/Physiological Requirements	273
Personality, Honesty, and Integrity Testing	274
Putting the Pieces Together to Create the External Selection Process	277
Single-Job Selection versus Classification	277
Gathering and Scoring Predictor Information	277
Combining Multiple Selection Procedures	278
Does It Work? Validating Selection Processes	280
Criterion-Related Validation	282
Content-Based Validation	285
Extent of Validation	286
Government Regulation of Validation
What Is the Payoff? Evaluating External Selection Activities	287
Efficiency	287
Equity	290
Your Turn: “HIO Silver” Selection at AFG Industries	292

CHAPTER 8
Employee Separations, Workforce Reduction and Retention	307
Workforce Reduction and Retention	308
A Diagnostic Approach to Workforce Reduction/Retention	308
Efficiency	309
Equity	311
Separations Initiated by Employees or Employers: Who Decides?	311
Measuring the Separation Rate	312
Beyond the Separation Rate: Workforce Value	312
Managing Resignations	314
Quits	314
Retirements	318
Managing Employee Dismissals	322
Discharges	322
Layoffs	327
Evaluating Employee Separations and Retention	336
Efficiency	336
Equity	336
Your Turn: Boeing Louisiana's Plant Closing	338

PART THREE

EMPLOYEE DEVELOPMENT 349

CHAPTER 9
Internal Staffing and Careers	351
Organizational Staffing and Employee Careers	354
Setting Objectives for Internal Staffing and Careers	354
Internal Employee Movement Is Part of the Staffing Process	356
External Staffing and Internal Staffing Create Career Systems	356
Internal Staffing Reflects Both Internal Selection and Separation	356
Internal Staffing Affects Workforce Quality	358
Balancing Employee and Employer Concerns: Career Management and Career Planning	360
The New Employment Contract: In Business for Yourself	362
The New Career Path: Twists and Turns, Not Straight and Narrow	362
Career Planning: Employees Finding and Pursuing Their Goals	364
Career Orientation: Who Do You Want to Be?	364
Career Cycles and Stages	366

Recruitment in Career Management	371
Job Posting	371
Nomination by the Employees Themselves	373
Nomination by Employees' Superiors	374
Nomination by Mentors	374
Skill Inventories	375
Replacement and Succession Planning	376
Selection In Career Management	378
Selection Procedures Used for Internal Staffing	378
Assessment Centers	379
Past Performance, Experience, and Seniority	382
Separation and Retention in Career Management: Who's Left When They Leave?	384
Dual-Ladder Career Paths: Keeping Technical Talent on Track	384
"Mommy Tracks," "Parent Tracks," and Work-Life Balance	386
Chief Executive Officer Succession	386
Managing Global Careers	387
Organizational Factors	389
Employee Characteristics: Arnold Schwarzenegger Would Be Ideal	389
Family Support: Whither Thou Goest Shall I Go?	390
Cultural Adaptability: Don't Sneeze into Your Handkerchief in Tokyo	390
Human Resource Management: How Can We Help?	390
Evaluating Internal Staffing and Career Development	391
Efficiency	391
Equity	392
Glass Ceilings and Walls	392
Your Turn: Shattering the Glass Ceiling at Corning Glass Works	394
CHAPTER 10
Training	406
Training and the Employee Development Process	408
Training Is Not for Training's Sake	408
Training as a Strategic Weapon for Nations	410
Training as a Strategic Weapon for Organizations	410
Achieving Impact: Diagnostic Approach to Training	411
Assessing the Organization's Needs	411
Job, Task, Competency, and Knowledge-Skill-Ability (KSA) Analysis	413
Person Analysis	415
Comparison and Use of Needs Assessment Methods	415
What's the Target? Identifying Training Objectives	416
Selection and Design of Training Programs	417
Establishing Supportive Conditions for Learning	417
Trainee Ability to Learn	417

- Trainee Motivation to Learn 418
- Choosing the Content of Training 421
- Choosing Training Delivery Methods: On-the-Job Training 427
- Choosing Training Methods: Off-the-Job Training 429
- Transfer from the Training Environment to the Job 434
- Evaluating Training Outcomes: The Proof Is in the Results 436
 - Choosing Training Criteria: What Is Effectiveness? 436
 - Efficiency: Training Costs 438
 - Efficiency: Benefits 438
 - Break-Even Analysis 440
 - Equity 444
- Your Turn: Training to Build the Saturn Difference 446

PART FOUR

COMPENSATION 457

CHAPTER 11

The Pay System 459

- Multiple Forms of Pay 460
 - Total Compensation Total Rewards 460
- Multiple Pay Objectives 461
- Pay Policy Decisions 463
 - External Competitiveness: Comparisons among Organizations 463
 - Internal Alignment: Comparisons within an Organization 464
 - Employee Contributions 465
 - Implementation 465
 - Balancing Policy Decisions 465
- External Competitiveness 466
 - Measure the Market 466
 - Conducting a Survey 468
 - What Pay Level to Set? 471
 - Translating Pay Level Policy into Practice 472
- Internal Alignment 473
 - Egalitarian versus Hierarchical Structures 474
 - Designing a Job-Based Structure: Job Evaluation 476
 - Point Methods: The Most Common Job Evaluation Plan 476
 - Skill-Based Structures 479
 - Competency-Based Structures 483
 - Market-Based Structures 485
 - Building Bureaucracies? 486

Your Turn: Evaluating Jobs 488Appendix: Factor Definitions and Points in A Skill-Based Job Evaluation Plan for Manufacturing Jobs 493

CHAPTER 12

Paying Individual Employees 499

Employee Contributions 500Should Employees Be Paid Differently? 500

Flat Rates 501

Pay Ranges 501

Broadbanding 503

How to Pay for Employee Contributions 504

Merit Pay: Individual Employees Matter 504

Is Merit Mismanaged? Too Much Money Has Too Little Effect 506

Individual Incentives 508

Team/Unit Based Plans: Teamwork as a Key to Improved Performance 515

Gainsharing 510

Does Paying for Performance Pay Off? 514

Pay for Performance Affects Equity 514

The Dark Side of Variable Pay 515

Pay for Performance Affects Efficiency 515

Pay Implementation 516

Gaining Acceptance 516

Ensuring Legal Compliance 517

Comparable Worth 519

Special Groups 520

International Pay Systems 523

Comparing Wages and Productivity 523

Comparing Systems 525

Global Snapshots 525

Expatriate Pay 528

Your Turn: The Class Comparison 533

CHAPTER 13

Benefits 539

The Growth of Benefits 540

Contributions versus Entitlements 541

A Benefits Gap 542

Setting Benefit Objectives and Strategies 543

- Competitiveness 544
 - Cost Comparisons 544
- Compliance 544
 - Civil Rights Laws 545
 - Fiduciary Responsibility 546
 - Mandated Benefits 547
- Coverage 549
 - Employer-Purchased Insurance 549
 - Paid Time Away from Work 551
 - Employee Services 551
 - Retirement Income 551
- Choice 552
- Communication 555
- International Variations 556
- Outsourcing 557
- Evaluating the Results of Benefit Decisions 557
 - Effects on Costs 558
 - Effects on Employee Behaviors 559
 - Effects on Equity 560
- Your Turn: National Health Insurance 561

PART FIVE

EMPLOYEE/LABOR RELATIONS

CHAPTER 14

- Unions 567
- Why Do Employees Join Unions? 567
- The Legal Framework for Collective Bargaining 570
- Labor Relations Objectives 572
 - Maintain a Union-Free Status 572
 - Collaboration 573
- The Organizing Campaign 574
- Negotiating a Contract 576
 - Preparation 576
 - Negotiation Issues 577
 - Refusal to Bargain 578
- Impasses in Collective Bargaining 579
 - Mediation 579
 - Strikes 580
 - Replacement Workers 581

Contract Administration	581
Steps in the Grievance Process	581
Arbitration	583
The Union Organization	583
Union Leaders	584
Union Strategies	585
Cooperative Programs	586
What Does the Research Tell Us?	587
Public Sector Unions	588
New Legislative Initiatives	588
Labor Relations in Other Countries	589
Centralized Bargaining	590
Worker Councils	590
Social Legislation: Intensive versus Extensive	591
Evaluating the Effects of Labor Relations Activities	592
Efficiency: Union Impact on Wages	592
Efficiency: Union Impact on Productivity	593
Equity: Union Impact on Employees' Voice	595
Different Countries, Different Effects	595
Your Turn: Caterpillar and the United Auto Workers: From Adversaries to Cooperation to Adversaries	597

CHAPTER 15

Employee Relations

603

The Importance of Employee Relations	605
Communication	606
Employee Involvement	607
Quality of Work Life (QWL)	609
Employee-Management Committees	610
Organization Initiatives	610
Family/Job Conflict	610
Work Schedule Adaptations	611
Child Care Assistance	612
Protection	613
Safety and Health Hazards	613
Occupational Safety and Health Act	615
Stress	616
Co-Worker Relations	619
Employee Assistance	622
Approaches to Employee Assistance	624
Conflict and Discipline	625
Disciplinary Process	627

Conflict Resolution	628
Judging the Judges	630
The Dark Side of the New Deal	631
Reciprocity in the Relationship	632
Replacing the Contract with . . . What?	632
Evaluating Results	633
Efficiency	633
Equity	634
Your Turn: Saks Fifth Avenue	636
CHAPTER 16
The Evolving Human Resource Management Profession	640
The HR Function: From “One Foreman” to “Globally Hight Flex”?	642
Industry Model	642
Investment Model	643
Involvement Model	643
High-Flex Model	644
The Building Blocks: Human Resources Competencies	646
Human Resource Information Systems	647
What Is a Human Resource Information System?	649
Information System Value: The Three C’s	649
Designing the HRIS	651
Input: Where Do You Get the Information?	655
Data Maintenance and Processing	655
Output: What You See Is What You Get	659
Avoiding “Disclosure”: Privacy and Security	660
Choosing the System	661
Tracking Value-Added: A Balanced Scorecard	662
Stakeholder Opinions/Perceptions	662
Auditing Human Resource Activities	664
Human Resource Budgets	664
Activity, Cost, or Head-Count Ratios	665
Human Resource Accounting	665
Return on Investment in Human Resources	666
Evaluating the Human Resource Function	668
Your Turn: A Web Page for HR at a University	670
Appendix: Specialization in HRM	670
Name Index	675
Subject Index	685