

Contents

List of figures	xv
List of tables	xix
List of "Focus on . . ." features	xxi
List of "Global focus" features	xxiii
List of "Diversity issues" features	xxv
List of "Question of Ethics" features	xxvii
Preface	xxix
Acknowledgments	xxxiii
CHAPTER 1 INTRODUCTION	1
The field of organizational behavior	2
A historical view of contemporary organizational behavior	5
Antecedents of contemporary organizational behavior	6
Contemporary organizational behavior	9
Current trends and challenges for organizational behavior	12
The changing economy	13
The changing work force	14
Changes in organizations and the way they are managed	15
Managing organizational performance	17
What is performance?	17
What managers do	21
Managerial work and organizational level	23

The plan of this book	23
The building blocks of organizational behavior	23
Navigating this book	24
Summary	26
Key concepts	26
Study questions	27
Case: Judy Jenkins' first day in class	27
References	28
CHAPTER 2 PERSONALITY AND INDIVIDUAL DIFFERENCES	31
Managing behavior: A useful model	32
Personality	33
How and when personality operates	34
The bases of personality	35
Approaches to learning	35
Personality in the organizational setting	39
The "Big Five" personality dimensions	41
Positive and negative affectivity – Being in a good or bad mood	42
Adjusting to work and organizational life	44
The authoritarian personality	46
The Machiavellians	46
Locus of control: Who's in charge?	49
Myers–Briggs personality dimensions and work style preferences	49
Frustrating the mature personality	50
Summary	51
Guide for Managers: Understanding why people behave as they do	52
Key concepts	53
Study questions	53
Case: Laurel Bedding Company	54
References	55
CHAPTER 3 ATTITUDES, PERCEPTION AND JUDGMENT	57
The nature of attitudes	58
Sources of beliefs, values and attitudes	58
Why attitudes are important	59
A model of attitudes	61
Attitudinal consistency and cognitive dissonance	65
Employee attitudes, job satisfaction and performance	67
Perception	68
The perceiver	70
Effects of the event or object	72
Situational effects	72
Judgment tendencies	73

First impressions	73
Halo: One characteristic tells all	74
Projection	75
Implicit personality theory	76
Stereotyping	76
Attribution theory: Finding causes of behavior	77
Some organizational implications of attribution biases	80
Summary	82
Guide for Managers: Making better judgments	82
Key concepts	84
Study questions	84
Case: A bad day in Boonetown	85
References	86
CHAPTER 4 ORGANIZATIONAL ACCOMMODATION: CAREERS, SOCIALIZATION AND COMMITMENT	89
Careers	91
Career paths	94
Organizational socialization: Learning how to accommodate to work	96
Early socialization experiences	96
Preliminary work socialization	98
Organizational socialization	100
Organizational commitment and accommodation	102
Commitment, careers and workforce diversity	107
Women and careers	108
Racial and ethnic diversity	112
Summary	113
Guide for Managers: Managing your career	113
Key concepts	116
Study questions	116
Case: Harrison Electronics and Sarah Cunningham	117
References	118
CHAPTER 5 THEORIES OF MOTIVATION	121
Motivation and performance	123
What do we mean by performance?	124
Ability	125
What do we mean by motivation?	127
Motivation – The content theories	129
Need theories	130
Herzberg's two-factor theory	132
The job characteristics approach	134
McClelland's achievement–power theory	137

Motivation – The process theories	139
Reinforcement theory	139
Expectancy theory	146
Goal-setting theory	150
Organizational justice theories	151
Summary	157
Guide for Managers: Using motivation theories at work	158
Key concepts	160
Study questions	161
Case: Paul Peters' raise	162
References	163
CHAPTER 6   APPLIED MOTIVATION THEORIES	165
Management by objectives (MBO)	167
Positive reinforcement programs	170
Gainsharing approaches	173
The Scanlon Plan	175
High involvement organizations (HIOs)	176
Job enrichment	176
Self-directed teams	177
New compensation approaches	179
Leaner management structures	179
Total quality management (TQM)	179
Minimizing worker–management status differentials	181
Nontraditional selection and socialization strategies	181
The effectiveness of HIOs	182
Summary	184
Guide for Managers: Making motivation theories work	184
Key concepts	186
Study questions	186
Case: National Oil Company	187
References	188
CHAPTER 7   STRESS IN ORGANIZATIONS	191
A model of stress and coping	193
The objective environment	195
The psychological environment	195
Individual differences	196
Stress manifestations	198
Coping strategies	199
Sources of stress	200
Work factors	201

Nonwork factors	206
Individual differences and stress	208
Summary	213
Guide for Managers: Dealing with stress	214
Key concepts	217
Study questions	217
Case: John Baxter	218
References	218

CHAPTER 8 GROUP AND TEAM PERFORMANCE ENVIRONMENT 221

Groups and teams: Definitions	223
Why groups form	223
Personal characteristics	223
Interests and goals	224
Potential to influence	225
Opportunity for interaction	225
Types of groups	226
Reference groups	226
Formal groups	226
Informal groups	227
Group and team effectiveness	228
Group performance environment	229
Industry factors	229
Organizational factors	230
Group factors	232
Summary	241
Guide for Managers: Creating a good team environment	241
Key concepts	243
Study questions	243
Case: The same old stuff	244
References	245

CHAPTER 9 GROUP PROCESSES AND EFFECTIVENESS 247

Group processes	249
Group maturity	249
Commonality of group norms	252
Group cohesiveness	254
Group cooperation and competition	258
Social influences on behavior	261
Group and team effectiveness factors	264
Performance outcomes	264
Attitudinal outcomes	266
Behavioral outcomes	268

Summary	269
Guide for Managers: Encouraging improved work groups	270
Key concepts	271
Study questions	271
Case: Design Section E	272
References	273
CHAPTER 10 CONFLICT	275
The nature of conflict	276
Conflict as a process	277
The role of history in conflicts	278
Viewpoints on conflict	279
Intergroup conflict	281
What triggers conflict?	281
Individual characteristics	281
Situational forces	283
Organizational structure	285
Diagnosing conflict	287
The issue in question	288
The size of the stakes	288
The interdependence of parties	288
The continuity of the interaction	288
The leadership	289
The involvement of third parties	289
The perceived progress of the conflict	289
Conflict reaction styles	289
Avoiding	290
Accommodating	291
Competing	291
Compromising	291
Collaborating	292
Style flexibility: Overuse and underuse	292
Improving your conflict management style	292
Confrontation techniques	295
Improving organizational response to conflict	298
Setting superordinate goals	299
Reducing ambiguities and jurisdictional disputes	299
Improving policies, procedures, and rules	300
Reallocating or adding resources	300
Modifying communications	300
Rotating personnel	300
Changing reward systems	301
Providing training	301
Summary	302
Guide for Managers: Managing conflict constructively	303

Key concepts	304
Study questions	304
Case: Zack Electrical Parts	305
References	305
CHAPTER 11 DECISION MAKING	307
Characteristics of the decision process	310
Decisions within decisions	310
Small decisions accumulate	311
Decisions are partial or temporary solutions	312
Models of decision making	312
The rational or normative model of decision making	312
The administrative model of decision making	314
The garbage can model of decision making	315
Improving individual decision making	316
Factors that influence the decision-making process	317
Improving problem selection and definition	318
Improving generating and evaluating solutions	319
Improving decision implementation	321
Summary of improving individual decision making: A call for systems thinking	323
Improving group decision making	324
Benefits and disadvantages of groups	324
Deciding when to use a group	326
Groupthink	328
Risky shift and polarization	332
Summary	335
Guide for Managers: Improving group decision making	335
Key concepts	337
Study questions	337
Case: Escapade Travel Agency	338
References	339
CHAPTER 12 CULTURES: NATIONAL AND ORGANIZATIONAL	341
Ways to characterize cultures	345
The Hofstede model	345
Organizational consequences of cultural differences	348
Organizational culture	353
A multi-level model of organizational culture	354
Basic values of the dominant coalition	356
Manifestations of organizational culture	357
Modes of implementation	362

The modal personality of top management and types of organizational cultures	362
Organizational subcultures	366
Organizational culture – Some special cases	369
Implementing a culture in a new organization	369
Mergers and acquisitions	370
Changes in the environment	372
Changing the existing culture	373
Changing the CEO	374
Summary	376
Guide for Managers: Coping with cultures	377
Key concepts	379
Study questions	380
Case: The Graduate School of Business Administration	381
References	382
CHAPTER 13    ORGANIZATIONAL STRUCTURE AND DESIGN	385
The nature of organizational structure	387
Some properties of organizations	387
Organizations and environment	389
Formal organizations: Design and structure	396
Division of labor and task interdependence	397
Organizational design alternatives	401
Summary	411
Guide for Managers: Designing organizations	411
Key concepts	414
Study questions	415
Case: Cole and Wiley	416
References	418
CHAPTER 14    POWER AND POLITICS IN ORGANIZATIONS	419
A model of influence processes in organizations	421
Bases of influence	422
Outcomes of influence	429
Organizational and personal bases of influence	431
Acquiring and maintaining organizationally based influence	431
Situational determinants of organizationally based influence	432
Environmental changes and power	433
Personal attributes of those who acquire organizationally based influence	434
Maintaining organizationally based influence	435
Acquiring and maintaining personal-based influence	439

Acquiring and maintaining charismatic power	440
Acquiring and maintaining expert power	441
Managerial use of power in organizations	442
Summary	445
Guide for Managers: Using power in organizations	445
Key concepts	448
Study questions	448
Case: The Brewton School	449
References	450

CHAPTER 15 LEADERSHIP IN ORGANIZATIONS 453

Trait approaches	455
Leader motive pattern	457
Behavioral approaches	457
Distribution of decision influence	457
Task and social behaviors	459
Contingency theories of leadership	461
Fiedler's contingency model	461
Path-goal theory	467
A summary comment on trait, behavior and contingency approaches to leadership	471
Process theories of leadership	472
Transformational leadership theory	472
Vertical dyad linkage theory	475
Substitutes for leadership	476
Summary	479
Guide for Managers: Choosing a leadership style	479
Key concepts	481
Study questions	482
Case: Cliff City Bank	483
References	484

CHAPTER 16 ORGANIZATIONAL CHANGE 487

How our work life is changing	488
Changes to internal work processes used to complete work	488
Organizations are changing structurally	489
Shifts to a global economy	489
Increased diversity in the work force	491
A model of change	491
Organism adaptation	491
Organizational adaptation	491
Resistance to change	492

Organizational culture and power structure	493
Changing systems: the effects of interdependencies	493
The five leverage points of change	494
The setting	495
The organization	495
Management and management skills	496
Culture	496
The team and team building	496
Stages of successful change	497
Helping individuals to cope with change	499
Before the change event	499
After the change event is confirmed	501
After the change	502
Implementing change	502
Methods of individual change	502
Methods of group change	504
Methods of organizational change	506
Summary	510
Guide for Managers: Creating dissatisfaction as a change strategy	511
Key concepts	512
Study questions	512
Case: A case of resistance	513
References	513
Glossary	515
Author index	539
Subject index	548

Figures

Figure 1.1	Plan of this book	18
Figure 2.1	Basic model of individual behavior	33
Figure 2.2	Classical model of learning	37
Figure 2.3	Reinforcement or instrumental model of learning	37
Figure 2.4	Positive and negative affectivity	42
Figure 3.1	What functions attitudes serve	59
Figure 3.2	A model of attitudes	61
Figure 3.3	Example of the learning and expression of attitudes toward work and career	62
Figure 3.4	Cluster of related attitudes	65
Figure 3.5	A perceptual model	70
Figure 3.6	Perceptual teasers	74
Figure 3.7	Judgment tendencies	75
Figure 3.8	A model of attribution theory	77
Figure 4.1	Different subidentities	92
Figure 4.2	The good enough theory of promotion: Performance and attitudinal requirements for advancement	93
Figure 4.3	Socialization and work	96
Figure 4.4	A strong organizationalist orientation	104
Figure 4.5	A strong indifferent orientation	104
Figure 5.1	Relationship between performance, motivation, and ability	124
Figure 5.2	Technology-dominated work	127
Figure 5.3	Role of managerial motivation strategies	128
Figure 5.4	A needs approach to motivation	130
Figure 5.5	Maslow's hierarchy of needs	131
Figure 5.6	The job characteristic's model: the relationships among core job dimensions, critical psychological states, and work outcomes	135

Figure 5.7	Types of consequences and their effects	140
Figure 5.8	Examples of consequences in a work setting	141
Figure 5.9	Schedules of reinforcement and their effects on learning and extinction	144
Figure 5.10	Some key concepts in expectancy theory	146
Figure 5.11	Effort–performance and performance–outcome expectancies	147
Figure 5.12	The interaction of procedural justice and distributive justice	156
Figure 6.1	The role of managerial motivation strategies	167
Figure 6.2	Positive reinforcement program components	171
Figure 6.3	Behavioral diagnosis in positive reinforcement	172
Figure 6.4	Strategies for implementing job redesign and their relationships to job characteristics	177
Figure 7.1	A model of stress and coping	194
Figure 7.2	Relationships between levels of stress and performance	195
Figure 7.3	The effects of two different cognitive appraisals of the same event	197
Figure 7.4	Stress at work	202
Figure 8.1	Factors in group formation	224
Figure 8.2	A model of group effectiveness	228
Figure 8.3	Dilemmas and techniques in making task role assignments	234
Figure 9.1	Overall group performance environment and group effectiveness	249
Figure 9.2	Stages in group development	250
Figure 9.3	Causes and effects of cohesiveness	255
Figure 9.4	Forces and conditions of cooperation and competition	259
Figure 9.5	Productivity between and within high and low cohesive groups	267
Figure 10.1	The conflict process	277
Figure 10.2	Optimum levels of organizational conflict	280
Figure 10.3	Causes of conflict	282
Figure 10.4	Conflict diagnostic model	287
Figure 10.5	A model of personal stylistic reactions to conflict	290
Figure 10.6	Conflict management strategies	295
Figure 11.1	Rational model of decision making	313
Figure 11.2	Benefits and disadvantages of group decision making	325
Figure 11.3	The Vroom–Yetton decision model	330
Figure 11.4	A model of groupthink	332
Figure 11.5	Effects of polarization on decision risk	333
Figure 12.1	A multilevel model of organizational culture	356
Figure 12.2	Implementing a culture in a new organization	370
Figure 12.3	Incongruent cultures of two firms in a merger	371
Figure 12.4	Changes in organizational culture as the environment changes	372
Figure 12.5	Attempting to change an existing organizational culture	373

Figure 13.1	The basic relationship between environment and types of organizations	392
Figure 13.2	Activities required to make and sell cabinets	398
Figure 13.3	The relationship between knowledge–ability and the different types of specialization	399
Figure 13.4	Assignment and arrangement of tasks in making cabinets	401
Figure 13.5	Reciprocal task interdependence	401
Figure 13.6	Pooled task interdependence	401
Figure 13.7	The Eagle Brewing Company as a functional organization	402
Figure 13.8	Eagle Brewing as a product organization	404
Figure 13.9	A “classic” matrix organization	405
Figure 13.10	Organizational structure options at Apple-Orange	406
Figure 13.11	Project organization of a construction and real estate development company	408
Figure 14.1	The bases of influence in organizations	421
Figure 14.2	The hypothetical psychological contract of a CEO	423
Figure 14.3	Factors affecting power from strategic contingency theory	432
Figure 14.4	Maintenance of organizational-based power	437
Figure 15.1	Subordinate influence in decision making	458
Figure 15.2	Relationships between leader orientation, leader effectiveness, and situational control in Fiedler’s Theory	466
Figure 15.3	Basic premise of path–goal theory	467
Figure 15.4	Basic factors in path–goal theory	468
Figure 15.5	Leader role in path–goal theory	469
Figure 15.6	Similarity between selected concepts of leadership	472
Figure 16.1	The McKinsey 7-S Framework	494
Figure 16.2	Determinants of motivation to change	498
Figure 16.3	Key stages in effective change	498

Tables

Table 4.1	Organizational personality orientations and different bases of commitment	108
Table 5.1	Basic elements of two-factor theory	133
Table 6.1	Classifications of on-the-job rewards	173
Table 7.1	Relative difficulty of adjustment to selected life changes	207
Table 10.1	Style flexibility, overuse, and underuse of conflict reaction styles	294
Table 10.2	The principled negotiation technique compared to soft and hard methods of conflict resolution	297
Table 12.1	Clusters of nations grouped by culture	348
Table 12.2	Organizational characteristics and cultural values in various countries	351
Table 13.1	Some differences between the scientific management and the job enrichment approach	398
Table 13.2	Some differences between functional and product organization	413
Table 15.1	Some substitutes for leadership	474
Table 15.2	Transformational leader and subordinate behavior and attitudes	478
Table 16.1	An approach to organizational change	509

“Focus on . . .” features

Management history	6
A manager's job: Why Matt Scott went back to his work team	22
An extrovert: Bobby Hinds and the portable gym	40
Values and beliefs: Why Aaron Feuerstein did the right thing	64
Careers: the expert career path	95
Procedural justice	155
Gainsharing: A project at Henle	174
Teams: They don't always work	178
Selection: The thick selection screen at a Toyota plant	182
Discharging stress: Some conventional and some unconventional ways	215
Teams: Team for sale?	222
Productivity: Look who's pushing productivity	225
Building teams: Can a baseball team buy its way to the World Series?	232
Socioemotional roles: Baseball jokers	235
Team building: Kick-starting your group with a little team-building?	251
Teams: The Saturn experience	252
Conflict: What kind of people do you like to have around?	279
Stress and decision making: Disaster at Tenerife	310
Bad information and decision making: Tragedy over Iraq	311
Decision making: Choices in the "garbage can"	316
Rituals – Integration rites: the Air Force's "Dining In"	363
A new actor in the dominant coalition: Ted Turner and Time Warner	375
Organizational types: An organic organization	393
Organizational designs: Network organizations	410
A charismatic CEO: Herb Kelleher of Southwest Airlines	429
Path–Goal theory: When being directive works for everyone	470
Change: Who are the changemasters?	507

“Global focus” features

The universality of management theories	5
An example of different socialization experiences on business practices	36
A clash of values	60
Dual career expatriates	111
International pay and equity	153
Total quality management (TQM)	180
Stress and international jobs	206
Group status internationally	238
Measuring team effectiveness internationally	268
Conflict across cultures	284
Escalating commitment in Asian managers	322
Cultural values in China	344
Organizational design at Procter and Gamble	386
Differences between British and German middle managers	456
The myths of the lives of expatriates	490
The focus of change programs are often a moving target	493

“Diversity issues” features

Mary Parker Follett: A female management guru – from the early 1900s	11
Perceptions about women and international assignments	71
The psychological contract and women in Procter and Gamble	101
Managing performance of the educable mentally handicapped	126
Using MBO to make diversity programs work	170
Role conflict and the working woman	203
Diversity task groups	227
Boomers versus busters – does age make a difference?	263
So you’ve increased the diversity – now how do you decrease the conflict?	299
How gender changes the decision-making process for promotions	317
Corporate culture and incorporating older workers	355
Work teams with women and minorities	403
Expert power and the sight-impaired	428
US managers from Middle Eastern cultures	459
Action plan for change	504

“Question of Ethics” features

How ethics can collapse in organizations	20
The Machiavellian professor	47
Values and cognitive dissonance	66
Some careers have tougher problems than others	99
Motivational practices and unethical behavior	129
Motivation strategies and ethical problems	183
Ethical climates in organizations and role strain	202
Is group effectiveness an issue of trust?	231
What would you do?	260
Conflicts of interest	283
Ethical behavior in groups	334
Different cultures, different ethics	350
Formalization and electronic mail snooping	388
CEO compensation and the use of legitimate authority	425
When there is a special “in-group” relationship	477
What would you do?	500