

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Foreword .....	3
Executive summary .....	7
Chapter 1
Study overview
Introduction .....	11
The survey .....	14
The sample .....	15
Representativeness of the sample .....	16
Data analyses .....	17
Chapter 2
Characteristics of PRP schemes
Types of payments reported by managers .....	21
Types of payments reported by agencies .....	22
Performance measures .....	23
Levels of awards .....	24
Distributions of awards reported by managers .....	24
Levels and distributions of awards reported by agencies .....	25
Chapter 3
Evaluations of performance pay processes
Perceived general effectiveness of schemes .....	27
Personal effectiveness .....	27
Chapter 4
Motivation potential of PRP and reactions to PRP schemes
Motivation potential of PRP .....	29
Defining motivational states .....	31
Distributions of motivational states .....	32
The effects of PRP schemes on motivational states .....	32
Chapter 5
Satisfaction, commitment and trust
Satisfaction levels of managers .....	35
Determinants of performance pay satisfaction .....	36
Determinants of commitment and trust .....	37

Chapter 6

Management flexibility and teamwork

Management flexibility . . . . .
Teamwork . . . . .

Chapter 7

Major findings and policy implications

The question of fit . . . . .
Effectiveness of implementation . . . . .
Assessment against key effectiveness criteria . . . . .
Impacts of PRP scheme characteristics . . . . .
Annex 1. Figures . . . . .
Annex 2. Tables . . . . .
References . . . . .