

Table of contents

Foreword	3
Summary	9

Chapter I

Trade liberalisation in the transition process

A. General framework of the transition process	16
B. Contribution of trade liberalisation to the transition process	20
C. Main principles of trade liberalisation	22
State trading	25
Quotas, licensing and taxes	27
Tariffs	29
Exchange rate policy and convertibility	31

Chapter II

Transitional trade protection in transforming economies

A. Transitional trade protection in accordance with multilateral rules of the game	40
B. First experiences of transforming economies with transitional trade protection measures	41
C. Beyond transitional trade protection	45

Chapter III

Trade policy in transforming economies and multilateral rules of the game

A. Past experiences with the participation of some CEECs in the GATT	52
B. Compatibility of new trade regimes with the GATT rules	53
C. Prospects for the integration of transforming economies into the international trading system	57

Chapter IV

Trade barriers affecting the CEECs and the NIS

A. Market access restrictions prior to reforms	61
The General System of Preferences (GSP)	62
Non-tariff measures	62
Special legal regulations for unfair competition cases and market disruption	64
Other market access problems	64
B. Market access in OECD Member countries after reforms	66
Granting Most-Favoured-Nation (MFN) status	66
Extending General System of Preferences (GSP) benefits	70
Removing quantitative restrictions and increasing quota levels	71
Free trade agreements	71
C. CEEC trade flows in "sensitive goods"	72
D. Barriers to exports found inside the CEECs and the NIS	72
Telecommunications and transportation infrastructure	72
Changing financial and regulatory environment	73
Training in business skills	74
Product competitiveness	74
Availability of State help in export promotion	74

Chapter V

Trade and investment

A. Trade liberalisation and FDI policies	78
B. First experience with trade and FDI policies in transforming economies	82
C. Trade liberalisation and FDI: policy implications for transforming economies	84
Annex: Recent developments in trade policy in the CEECs and the NIS	87
Notes and references	97

Tables

Text

I.1	Main features of trade regimes in Hungary, Poland and the former CSFR	34
I.2	Main features of trade regimes in Romania, Bulgaria and Russia	36
II.1	Export and import exposure of selected CEECs	42
II.2	Trade of the CEECs and ex-USSR with OECD countries	43

III	Current situation of transforming economies in the GATT	50
IV.1	Selected OECD area non-tariff barriers affecting CEEC exports of textiles and apparel, 1985-1989	63
IV.2	OECD area imports of selected agricultural products from the CEECs and ex-Soviet Union, 1991	65
IV.3	Estimated Nominal Assistance Coefficient (NAC) in consumption for the OECD area, 1991	65
IV.4	OECD Member country grants of MFN and GSP to the CEECs and the NIS (beginning 1993)	67
IV.5	OECD barriers to exports from the CEECs and the NIS (end 1992)	68
IV.6	Average OECD area tariffs faced by CEEC exports in selected sectors	70
IV.7	Telecommunications: telephone mainlines per 100 inhabitants in selected CEECs and some OECD countries	73
V.	Regulatory framework for FDI in the CEECs	79

Annex

A.1	Recent regional integration initiatives involving the CEECs and the NIS	88
A.2	IMF financing granted to the CEECs and some NIS	95