

Contents

List of figures	vii
List of tables	viii
Acknowledgements	x
1 Privatisation, corporate supply management and procurement competence	1
PART I
Privatisation and the management of purchasing and supply	9
2 Privatisation, business restructuring and purchasing and supply management	11
3 The research project and methodology	38
PART II
Empirical findings: the survey results and case material	47
4 The impact of privatisation on the purchasing and supply function	49
5 The impact of privatisation on utilities' purchasing and supply management	75
6 The impact of privatisation on non-utilities' purchasing and supply management	112
7 Developments in public sector procurement	125

PART III

Cases in strategic supply alignment and purchasing and supply professionalism 139

Introduction 141

8 Severn Trent Water 142

9 South West Electricity 156

10 British Airways 167

11 British Steel 184

12 The Post Office 196

PART IV

Future options for supply alignment and procurement competence in privatised companies 209

13 Beyond purchasing professionalism: on business strategy, supply alignment and procurement competence 211

Appendix 235

Glossary of terms 242

Notes 246

References 250

Index 256

Figures

1.1	The three phases of efficiency improvement	4
2.1	Ownership, competition and efficiency	27
2.2	Single to double-loop learning	32
2.3	Learning at British Gas	33
10.1	An example of a BA purchasing portfolio matrix	181
13.1	Procurement and purchasing competence analysis in eight privatised and two public sector bodies	218
13.2	The appropriateness of static and learning approaches for the ten initial cases	219
13.3	Procurement and purchasing competence analysis in four privatised companies and one public sector body	226
13.4	The appropriateness of static and learning approaches for the five detailed cases	227

Tables

2.1	Privatisations in the UK (major sales)	19
2.2	Differences between public and private organisations	30
3.1	The four key hypotheses and a summary of the proxy indicators tested in the research	39
3.2	Privatised companies involved in the survey	42
3.3	The fifteen organisations involved in the detailed interviews	43–44
4.1	Direction of change in structure of the purchasing and supply function since privatisation	50
4.2	Timing of changes in the structure of purchasing	51
4.3	Changes in the number of purchasing staff since privatisation	52
4.4	Reasons for changes in the numbers employed in the purchasing department	52
4.5	The most popular themes in purchasing mission statements	54
4.6	Procurement tools and techniques most commonly used before and after privatisation	54
4.7	Initiatives in purchasing and supply since privatisation	55
4.8	Changes in the role of purchasing since privatisation	56
4.9	Factors that have driven changes in the role of purchasing	57
4.10	Perceived changes in the position of the most senior purchasing manager since privatisation	59
4.11	Changes in the involvement of purchasing in company spend since privatisation	59
4.12	Changes in outsourcing since privatisation	59
4.13	Reasons for changes in the level of outsourcing since privatisation	60
4.14	Changes in supplier performance since privatisation	61
4.15	Direction of the change in the structure of the purchasing and supply function – public sector	64
4.16	Changes in the number of purchasing staff – public sector	64
4.17	Details of current purchasing strategy – public sector	66
4.18	Procurement tools and techniques most commonly used – public sector	67

4.19	Factors that have driven changes in the role of purchasing – public sector	68
4.20	Changes in the position of the most senior purchasing manager – public sector	69
4.21	Changes in the involvement of purchasing in company spend – public sector	69
4.22	Changes in make–buy since privatisation	70
4.23	Changes in supplier performance since privatisation – public sector	71
4.24	Performance measurement of the purchasing department	72