

Contents

Participants in the conference on papers in this volume	vii
List of Figures	ix
List of Tables	x
Introduction
VILLY BERGSTRÖM	1
Part I: Can Political Models Predict Union Behaviour?
ROBERT J FLANAGAN	5
1. Introduction	7
2. Trade Unions: Models and Institutions	10
3. Classical Voting Models and Union Behaviour	14
4. The Descriptive Power of the Median Voter Model	19
5. Institutional Structure and Voting Outcomes	26
6. Union Leaders and Union Members	34
7. A Stocktaking	43
8. Comment
ALISTAIR ULPH	46
9. Comment
ASSAR LINDBECK	57
References for Part I	59
Part II: Bargaining Structure and Economic Performance
KARL OVE MOENE AND MICHAEL WALLERSTEIN WITH MICHAEL HOEL	63
10. Introduction	65
11. Wage Demands by Unions and Employers	72
12. Bargaining Models of Wage-Setting	94
13. Conflicts over the Level of Bargaining	120
14. Conclusion	127

15. Comment
ASSAR LINDBECK	132
16. Comment
LARS CALMFORS	136
References for Part II	147
Index	155

List of Figures

3.1 Preference Rankings of Union Members	15
3.2 Multi-dimensional Membership Preferences	16
4.1 Union Wage Changes, Manufacturing	21
4.2 Union Wage Changes, Non-Manufacturing	22
4.3 Union Relative Wage Level	23
4.4 Equilibrium with Contract Cost Chosen First	31
4.5 Centralized Voting Produces Lower Labour Costs	32
4.6 Centralized Voting Produces Higher Labour Costs	33
8.1 Pareto Efficient Set	50
8.2 Status Quo Undeclared	52
8.3 Status Quo Defeated	53
11.1 The Number of Insiders and Union Preferences of Wages and Employment	88
16.1 Centralization and Real Wages with Price Externalities	139
16.2 Possible Relations between Centralization and Real Wages	140

List of Tables

11.1 Wages and the Level of Wage-Setting	78
11.2 Dimensions of Centralization	84