

Contents

Foreword	ix
Donald T. Campbell
Preface	xiii
Note to the Second Edition	xv
1. Introduction	1
The Case Study as a Research Strategy	1
Comparing Case Studies With Other Research Strategies	3
Different Types of Case Studies, but a Common Definition	11
Summary	15
2. Designing Case Studies	18
General Approach to Designing Case Studies	18
Criteria for Judging the Quality of Research Designs	32
Case Study Designs	38
3. Conducting Case Studies: Preparing for Data Collection	54
The Case Study Investigator: Desired Skills	55
Training and Preparation for a Specific Case Study	59
The Case Study Protocol	63
The Pilot Case Study	74
Summary	76
4. Conducting Case Studies: Collecting the Evidence	78
Six Sources of Evidence	79
Three Principles of Data Collection	90
Summary	99
5. Analyzing Case Study Evidence	102
General Analytic Strategies	102
Dominant Modes of Analysis	106
Lesser Modes of Analysis	119

Pressing for a High-Quality Analysis	123
Summary	125
6. Composing the Case Study “Report”	127
Audiences for Case Studies	129
Varieties of Case Study Compositions	132
Illustrative Structures for Case Study Compositions	136
Procedures in Doing a Case Study Report	141
What Makes an Exemplary Case Study?	147
References	155
Name Index	163
Subject Index	167
About the Author	171