

Contents

Acknowledgements	vii
Foreword by Rom Harré	viii
Introduction	1
Chapter 1. Introduction on time in sociology	4
The argument and views of time	4
The growing concern with time in sociology	11
Chapter 2. Sociological theories reconstructed	23
Positivism	24
Functionalism	29
The normative integration model and ethnomethodology	35
Structuralism and structuralist historical research	42
Conclusion	46
Chapter 3. The self and knowledgeability: a Meadian approach	50
G.H. Mead's social psychology	53
A critical re-assessment	58
Conclusion	68
Chapter 4. Temporality and the self: a Meadian approach	74
G.H. Mead's view on time	75
A critical re-assessment	84
Conclusion	92

Chapter 5. Temporality, structuration and restructuration	96
Social structure	97
Unintended consequences	104
Conclusion	114
Chapter 6. Towards a temporalised sociology	119
Time and knowledge: an overview	120
Applications and examples	128
History and sociology	137
Bibliography	148