

Contents

Acknowledgements	vii
1 Theoretical Contrasts and International Contexts	1
Organizations and modernity	2
An argument in several movements	5
Organizations and postmodernity	9
Methodological modernism and postmodernism:
objects of analysis	19
Postmodern futures	22
Conclusion	23
2 Organizations and the Modernization of the World	25
Modernity and organization	25
Max Weber and the analysis of organizations	27
The iron cage of bureaucracy	29
The variable tendencies of bureaucracy	33
Loosening the iron cage	41
Conclusion	48
3 Why and Where did Bureaucracy Triumph?	50
Organizations conceptualized as systems	51
Inside the iron cage, enmeshed by unavoidable contingencies	53
Efficiency rules, OK?	58
Contingencies, adaptation and efficiency	69
Conclusion	73
4 Ecologies, Institutions and Power in the Analysis of Organizations	75
Population ecology perspective	75
The institutionalist perspective	80
The power perspective	84
The interpenetration of power/institutions	98
Comparing perspectives: an empirical test	100
Conclusion	105

5	French Bread, Italian Fashions and Asian Enterprise	107
	French bread	108
	Conceptions of action and economic embeddedness	116
	Italian fashion: the united colours of Benetton	120
	Variations of organization form in East Asian enterprises: the limits of 'under-socialized' accounts of economic action	125
	The Confucian tradition applied to East Asian enterprises: the limits of 'over-socialized' conceptions of economic action	132
	Japanese organizations in historical perspective	140
	Conclusion	149
6	Organizational Diversities and Rationalities	153
	Back to basics: economic embeddedness, institutional frameworks and modes of rationality	154
	Ethnicity and family as resources for rationality in East Asia	163
	Institutional frameworks as resources for rationality in East Asia	168
	Conclusion	174
7	Modernist and Postmodernist Organization	176
	Bureaucracy and Fordism: the modernist mix	177
	Postmodern organizations?	180
	Organizational imperatives	184
	Organization imperatives and organizational representations	203
	Conclusion	206
8	Postmodern Skill and Capital Formation?	208
	Turning Japanese? Debates on flexible manufacturing as the technical core of postmodern organization	208
	The practice of Swedish social democracy: other postmodern possibilities?	220
	Conclusion	233
	References	236
	Index	255