

Contents

- 1 Introduction 1
- 1 Growth, Structural Change, and Employment
- 2 Aspects of Growth, Structural Change, and Employment:
A Schumpeterian Perspective 15
- 3 Problems of Adjustment to Imports from Less-Developed Countries 41
- 4 The Role of Entrepreneurship in the 1980s 65
- 5 Comment on Professor Samuelson's Paper: "The World Economy at Century's End" 81
- 6 Toward an Explanation of the Productivity Slowdown: An Acceleration-Deceleration Hypothesis 91
with Frank Wolter
- 7 Labor, Wages, and Productivity 119
- 8 The Age of Schumpeter 137
- 9 Openness and Incentives 149
- 10 Individual Freedom for Worldwide Prosperity 159
- 11 EC 1992: Prospects and Problems 175

12	On the Transition to a Market Economy: Lessons from West Germany	187
13	The Progressive Order	201
II Monetary Policy, Inflation, and Exchange Rates
14	Entrepreneurial Risk under Flexible Exchange Rates	225
15	On the Desirable Degree of Flexibility of Exchange Rates	231
16	Some Neglected Aspects of Inflation in the World Economy	253
17	Index Clauses and the Fight against Inflation	275
18	IMF Surveillance over Exchange Rates	291
19	Monetary Policy: Does Independence Make a Difference? with Harmen Lehment	307
20	Real Exchange Rates in a Catching-up Process	325
	Index	345