

Contents

Series Prologue vii

INTRODUCTION

1. Approaches to Parenting in Culture

Marc H. Bornstein	3
Introduction	3
Motives for Approaching Culture in Parenting	3
Motives for Approaching Parenting in Culture	6
Cultural Approaches to Parenting	6
Recurring Themes of Parenting across Culture	12
Problems to Approaching Culture and Parenting	14
Coda: Cultural Approaches to Parenting	17
References	18

PART I: CONCEPTIONS OF PARENTING: CULTURAL ATTITUDES AND ACTIONS

2. Innate and Cultural Guidance of Infants' Integrative Competencies: China, The United States, and Germany

Hanuš Papoušek and Mechthild Papoušek	23
Introduction	23
Comparative Data	30
Melodic Contours as Universals	35
Conclusions	40
References	41

3. Child-Rearing Practices and Parental Beliefs in Three Cultural Groups of Montréal: Québécois, Vietnamese, Haitian

Andrée Pomerleau, Gérard Malcuit, and Colette Sabatier 45

- Introduction 45
- Infant Socialization in the Family Context 45
- Populations Observed in this Study 48
- The Context of Living in Immigrant Groups 49
- Indigenous and Immigrant Experiences and Child-Rearing Practices 52
- How Immigration and Child-Rearing Match: Environment, Beliefs, and Interactions 60
- Relations among Beliefs, Interactions, and Teaching 64
- Conclusions 66
- References 67

4. Parenting in Cross-Cultural Perspective: The United States, France, and Japan

Marc H. Bornstein, Joseph Tal, and Catherine S. Tamis-LeMonda ... 69

- Introduction 69
- Cultural Similarities and Differences in Parenting 69
- The United States, France, and Japan 73
- A Cultural Approach to Parenting 74
- Recap 81
- Sources of Variation in Cultural Approaches to Parenting 82
- Conclusions 84
- References 85

5. Parenting and Child Development in the Efe Foragers and Lese Farmers of Zaïre

Gilda A. Morelli and Edward Z. Tronick 91

- Introduction 91
- Cultural Community, Social Partners, and Development 92
- Research on the Efe Foragers and Lese Farmers 94
- The Forager and Farmer Community 96
- The Study 98
- Results of Behavioral Study 99
- Summary and Conclusions 107
- References 112

6. Discussion: Cultural Attitudes and Actions

T. Berry Brazelton 115

PART II: CONSEQUENCES OF PARENTING: DYNAMICS OF EN-CULTURATION

7. Structure, Continuity, and Nutritional Correlates of Caregiver Behavior Patterns in Kenya and Egypt

Marian Sigman and Theodore D. Wachs	123
Introduction	123
Performance Sites in Kenya and Egypt	125
Structure of Caregiver Behaviors	128
Continuity of Caregiver Behaviors	130
Nutrition and Caregiver Behaviors	130
Conclusions	133
References	136

8. Using Cross-Cultural Research to Inform Us about the Role of Language in Development: Comparisons of Japanese, Korean, and English, and of German, American English, and British English

Marilyn Shatz	139
Introduction	139
The Effect of Language Use on Sentence Verification: Japanese, Korean, and English	143
Parental Speech Styles and Cultural Values: German, American English, and British English	145
Conclusions	150
References	152

9. Becoming American or English? Talking About the Social World in England and the United States

Judy Dunn and Jane Brown	155
Introduction	155
Discourse about the Social World	158
Conclusions	170
References	171

10. Cultural Variation in the Role Relations of Toddlers and Their Families

Barbara Rogoff, Jayanthi Mistry, Artin Göncü, and Christine Mosier	173
Introduction	173
Development as Apprenticeship within Richly Organized Relationships	174
Cultural Variation and Similarities	175

Cultural Variation in Roles of Parents and Other Family Members 176
Orientation of Children to Community Groups 179
Dyadic Parent-Child Interaction Versus Group Interaction as Prototypes
for Social Engagement 180
Conclusions 181
References 182

11. Commentary: Dynamics of Enculturation

William Kessen 185
Introduction 185
A Tale of the Past 186
From the Laboratory to the Bush 186
Uniformity and Diversity 188
Ways of Distancing 189
Conclusion 192
References 193

About the Authors 195

Author Index 201

Subject Index 207