

SEGMENTATED FINANCIAL INFORMATION

TABLE OF CONTENTS

	Page
I. INTRODUCTION	7
II. PURPOSE OF SEGMENTED FINANCIAL REPORTING	9
1. Introduction	9
2. The uses of segmented financial information	9
3. Empirical evidence	12
4. Non-segmental disaggregated information	12
III. POSSIBLE PROBLEM AREAS	14
1. Cost	14
2. Competitive disadvantage	14
3. Commercial confidentiality	15
4. Technical issues	15
5. Interpreting segmented information	16
IV. THE STRUCTURE OF SEGMENTED REPORTS	18
1. Introduction	18
2. Segmented statements to be prepared	18
3. Relationship between the segmented and the aggregated financial statements	18
4. Level of segmentation within statements	19
5. Elements of segmented financial statements	20
6. Additional information	20
V. SCOPE OF THE REQUIREMENTS	21
VI. SEGMENT IDENTIFICATION	23
1. Introduction	23
2. Dimensions of segmentation	23
3. Bases of segmentation	25
4. Determining reportable segments	29

VII. MEASUREMENT ISSUES	32
1. General accounting policies	32
2. Inter-segment sales	32
3. Joint costs	35
4. Joint assets	37
VIII. LEVEL OF SEGMENTATION WITHIN THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS AND AMOUNT OF DISCLOSURE	39
1. Introduction	39
é. The income statement	39
3. The balance sheet	45
4. Reconciliations	46
5. Additional segmented disclosures	46
6. Segment description	47
7. Accounting policies	47
8. Inter-segment investments	48
9. Presentation	48
10. Figures	48
11. Disclosure	49
IX. AUDITING SEGMENTED INFORMATION	50
NOTES AND REFERENCES	51
ANNEX: INTERNATIONAL AND NATIONAL PRONOUNCEMENTS	53