

Contents

List of figures	page	ix
List of contributors		x
Preface Barbara Diane Miller		xiii
A note on the discussions at Mijas Elizabeth Colson		xv
Part 1 Overview and theoretical perspectives		1
1 The anthropology of sex and gender hierarchies Barbara Diane Miller		3
2 Sex differences and gender hierarchies among primates: an evolutionary perspective Adrienne L. Zihlman		32
3 The evolution of human gender hierarchies: a trial formulation Marvin Harris		57
Part 2 Sex and gender hierarchies from conception to death		81
4 Blood: cultural effectiveness of biological conditions Brigitta Hauser-Schäublin		83
5 Reproduction and gender hierarchy: amniocentesis in America Rayna Rapp		108
6 Variations in male-female dominance and offspring care in non-human primates Patricia Chapple Wright		127
7 Indexing gender Elinor Ochs		146
8 The politics of polygyny in Mende education and child fosterage transactions Caroline Bledsoe		170
9 Sexual repression, social control, and gender hierarchy in Sambia culture Gilbert Herdt		193
10 Primatological perspectives on gender hierarchies Joan B. Silk		212
		vii

11	Conjugal power in Tokugawa Japanese families: a matter of life or death G. William Skinner	236
Part 3 Complexity and change in gender hierarchies		271
12	Skeletal evidence for sex roles and gender hierarchies in prehistory Mark Nathan Cohen and Sharon Bennett	273
13	Gender hierarchy and the queens of Silla Sarah M. Nelson	297
14	Gender hierarchy in Burma: cultural, social, and psychological dimensions Melford E. Spiro	316
15	Turning the tables? Males strippers and the gender hierarchy in America Maxine L. Margolis and Marigene Arnold	334
16	Women in Samoan history: a further critique of Derek Freeman Eleanor Leacock	351
17	Sanskritization as female oppression in India Gerald D. Berreman	366
	Index	393

Figures

7.1	Indexing gender in Japanese	page	151
7.2	Language and gender		153
7.3	Verbal strategies that constitute mothering		157
10.1	Sexual dimorphism in body weight plotted against the adult sex ratio among non-human primates		218
10.2	Comparison of sexual dimorphism in body weight for primates that normally live in pair-bonded, multi-male, or single-male groups		219
10.3	Extent of sexual dimorphism among contemporary humans compared with extent of sexual dimorphism in pair-bonded, multi-male, and single-male groups of non-human primates		225
10.4	Hypothetical numbers of mates per male in (a) pair-bonded, (b) multi-male, and (c) single-male groups		227
10.5	Expected number of wives per male in societies in which (a) monogamy is common, (b) polygyny is limited, and (c) polygyny is common		228
11.1	Dimensions of the marriage-age matrix		250
11.2	All registered births of second and later parity arrayed according to characteristics of existing offspring at time of each birth, Tokugawa Japanese villagers		253
11.3	Sex of first registered birth, Tokugawa Japanese villagers		256
11.4	Mean age at death, ever-married men, Tokugawa Japanese villagers		260
11.5	Mean age at death, ever-married women, Tokugawa Japanese villagers		261
11.6	Proportion of ever-married women who died as widows, Tokugawa Japanese villagers		262
17.1	Schematic view of gender hierarchy in India		371