

Contents

Acknowledgements	ix
Preface	xi
Notes on the Contributors	xiii
PROLOGUE
The Need for a Critical Victimology Ezzat A. Fattah	3
PART ONE CRITICAL VIEWS ON VICTIMOLOGY AND VICTIM POLICY
1 Victims and Victimology: The Facts and the Rhetoric Ezzat A. Fattah	29
2 Research Implications of Conflicting Conceptions of Victimology Donald R. Cressey	57
3 Which Victim Movement? The Politics of Victim Policy Robert Elias	74
4 The Wrongs of Victim's Rights Lynne N. Henderson	100
PART TWO THE VICTIM'S ROLE IN THE PENAL PROCESS: CRITICAL VIEWS
5 The Victim's Role in the Penal Process: A Theoretical Orientation Leslie Sebba	195
6 The Victim's Role in the Penal Process: Recent Developments in California Donald R. Ranish and David Shichor	222
7 Victim Participation in Sentencing Proceedings Howard C. Rubel	238

8	The Alleged Molestation Victim, the Rules of Evidence and the Constitution: Should Children Really Be Seen and Not Heard? Thomas L. Feher	260
PART THREE INITIATIVES TO HELP VICTIMS OF CRIME: A CRITICAL APPRAISAL
9	Placebo Justice: Victim Recommendations and Offender Sentences in Sexual Assault Cases Anthony Walsh	295
10	The Victim/Offender Reconciliation Programme: A Message to the Correctional Reformers Tony Dittenhoffer and Richard V. Ericson	311
11	Restitution as Innovation or Unfilled Promise? Burt Galaway	347
12	Community Control, Criminal Justice and Victim Services Robert Elias	372
EPILOGUE
	The United Nations Declaration of Basic Principles of Justice for Victims of Crime and Abuse of Power: A Constructive Critique Ezzat A. Fattah	401
	Index	425