

Contents

Foreword by Irwin Epstein	ix
Acknowledgments	xi
Introduction	xiii
1 • THE RESPONSE TO THE POOR BY A DEBTOR STATE: THE ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL CRISES OF THE 1990s	3
Introduction: Unanswered Questions in Unsettling Times	3
A Deeper Look at the Financial Problems of the 1990s	5
The Decline of the American Economy: Deindustrialization and the Restratification of the Labor Force	6
Beyond the “Intensification of Poverty”: The Response to the Poor by a Debtor State	13
An Ominous Future: The Inability of States and Local Communities to Do More	21
2 • THE POLITICAL ECONOMIC FRAMEWORK OF THE WELFARE STATE CRISIS	29
Introduction	29
Three Theories of the Welfare State: Conservative, Liberal, and Neo-Marxist	32
The Contradictions between the Democratic State and Capitalist Society	40
Why Groups under Capitalism Must Turn to the State: The Development of the State’s Accumulation–Legitimation Functions	43
Conflict-Laden Activities and Processes of the Welfare State: The Role of Class Struggle	48
The Neo-Marxist Deterministic Analysis of Welfare State Programs	50
Summary and Conclusions	57

Contents

Foreword by Irwin Epstein	ix
Acknowledgments	xi
Introduction	xiii
1 • THE RESPONSE TO THE POOR BY A DEBTOR STATE: THE ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL CRISES OF THE 1990s	3
Introduction: Unanswered Questions in Unsettling Times	3
A Deeper Look at the Financial Problems of the 1990s	5
The Decline of the American Economy: Deindustrialization and the Restratification of the Labor Force	6
Beyond the “Intensification of Poverty”: The Response to the Poor by a Debtor State	13
An Ominous Future: The Inability of States and Local Communities to Do More	21
2 • THE POLITICAL ECONOMIC FRAMEWORK OF THE WELFARE STATE CRISIS	29
Introduction	29
Three Theories of the Welfare State: Conservative, Liberal, and Neo-Marxist	32
The Contradictions between the Democratic State and Capitalist Society	40
Why Groups under Capitalism Must Turn to the State: The Development of the State’s Accumulation–Legitimation Functions	43
Conflict-Laden Activities and Processes of the Welfare State: The Role of Class Struggle	48
The Neo-Marxist Deterministic Analysis of Welfare State Programs	50
Summary and Conclusions	57