CONTENTS

Illustrations and tables
 Preface
 Acknowledgement
 Introduction: medicine before the Industrial Revolution
 1 Medical practitioners in eighteenth- and nineteenth-century England
 2 Population and contraception
 3 Medical care under the Old and the New Poor Law
 4 Medical care provided by Friendly Societies
 5 Hospitals and dispensaries
 6 Asylums and prisons
 7 Midwifery and nursing
 8 Infections and disease control
 9 The pharmaceutical industry
 10 Medicine and war
 11 The National Health Service
 Conclusion
 Further reading
 Index of places
 Index of medical names
 Subject index
ILLUSTRATIONS

1.1 Henry Ward's certificate of attendance at the Westminster Hospital 17
1.2 The monument to Claver Morris, MD, in Wells Cathedral 20
3.1 New Poor Law workhouse plan 59
5.1 Elevation of the eastern front of Worcester Infirmary, 1767 84
6.1 'Scene in a madhouse', William Hogarth 99
6.2 Dr Edward Long Fox of Brislington 106
7.1 Rowlandson's cartoon of a midwife, 1811 122
8.1 A Punch cartoon on the pollution of the Thames, 1858 147
8.2 A poster warning of the dangers of VD, 1943-4 156
10.1 The RAMC on active service by R.H. Mackey 180

TABLES

1.1 Medical practitioners in Birmingham, 1767-1850 23
5.1 Numbers of patients at three provincial hospitals, 1892-1928 88
6.1 County lunatic asylums in England 108