

Contents

List of Contributors	page ix
Comparisons in Human Development: To Begin a Conversation	1
Jonathan Tudge, Michael J. Shanahan, and Jaan Valsiner
Part One Metatheoretical Approaches to Developmental Comparisons
1 Developmental Research and Comparative Perspectives: Applications to Developmental Science	13
Lucien T. Winegar
2 Developmental Concepts across Disciplines	34
Michael J. Shanahan, Jaan Valsiner, and Gilbert Gottlieb
3 Ecological Perspectives in Human Development: A Comparison of Gibson and Bronfenbrenner	72
Jonathan Tudge, Jacquelyn T. Gray, and Diane M. Hogan
Part Two Paradigmatic Statements
4 Nested Comparisons in the Study of Historical Change and Individual Adaptation	109
Michael J. Shanahan and Glen H. Elder, Jr.
5 The Value of Comparisons in Developmental Psychology	137
Debra Mekos and Patricia A. Clubb

- 6 Implications from Developmental Cross-cultural Research for the Study of Acculturation in Western Civilizations 162
Beth Kurtz-Costes, Rona McCall, and Wolfgang Schneider

Part Three Comparisons at the Level of Data

- 7 The Co-development of Identity, Agency, and Lived Worlds 193
Dorothy C. Holland and Debra G. Skinner
- 8 Sociocultural Promotions Constraining Children's Social Activity: Comparisons and Variability in the Development of Friendships 222
Paul A. Winterhoff
- 9 The Everyday Experiences of North American Preschoolers in Two Cultural Communities: A Cross-disciplinary and Cross-level Analysis 252
Jonathan Tudge and Sarah E. Putnam

Part Four Commentaries

- 10 Developmental Science: A Case of the Bird Flapping Its Wings or the Wings Flapping the Bird? 285
Jeanette A. Lawrence
- 11 Conceptual Transposition, Parallelism, and Interdisciplinary Communication 293
Jeanette A. Lawrence and Agnes E. Dodds
- 12 The "Ecological" Approach: When Labels Suggest Similarities beyond Shared Basic Concepts in Psychology 304
Angela Branco
- 13 Problems of Comparison: Methodology, the Art of Storytelling, and Implicit Models 318
Hideo Kojima
- 14 The Promise of Comparative, Longitudinal Research for Studies of Productive-Reproductive Processes in Children's Lives 334
William A. Corsaro

15	Integrating Psychology into Social Science James Youniss	340
	Author Index	355
	Subject Index	362