

CONTENTS

Foreword: Richard Evans Schultes	ix
Preface: E. John Staba	xi
Introduction	xiii
Selection	xv
Structure	xviii
Appendices	xxi
Literature cited	xxii
Part I. An alphabetic list of Chinese medicines with the botanical names and their equivalents in pharmaceutical usage . . .	1
Part II. A systematic arrangement
Plants	191
Thallophytes	191
Bryophytes	192
Pteridophytes	192
Spermatophytes	194
Animals	225
Minerals	227
Miscellaneous preparations	229

Appendices

I-A.	A guide to the syllables of the Wade system of romanization	233
I-B.	A table for the conversion of Pinyin to the Wade system	237
II.	Alphabetic lists of families and genera of plants
A.	A list of families with reference numbers or abbreviations	241
B.	A generic list with family numbers or abbreviations indicating the position of each genus in Part II	243
III.	The conversion of simplified Chinese characters into classical form	252
IV.	An index of Chinese names	259