

CONTENTS

List of illustrations – page vi
General editor's introduction – viii
Notes on contributors – x

Introduction	Dana Arnold	page 1
1	Robert Bowyer's Historic Gallery and the feminization of the 'nation' Cynthia E. Roman	15
2	Re-visioning landscape in Wales and New South Wales, c.1760–1840 Jocelyn Hackforth-Jones	35
3	The country house is just like a flag Sophia Cross	53
4	Trans-planting national cultures: the Phoenix Park, Dublin (1832–49), an urban heterotopia? Dana Arnold	67
5	Two nations, twice: national identity in The Wild Irish Girl and Sybil Andrew Ballantyne	87
6	Monumental nationalism: Layard's Assyrian discoveries and the formations of British national identity Frederick N. Bohrer	99
7	Union and display in nineteenth-century Ireland Fintan Cullen	111
8	Gentlemen connoisseurs and capitalists: modern British imperial identity in the 1903 Delhi durbar's exhibition of Indian art Julie F. Codell	134
9	Albion's legacy – myth, history and 'the Matter of Britain' Sam Smiles	164
10	Architecture and 'national projection' between the wars Mark Crinson	182

Index – page 201

ILLUSTRATIONS

- | | | |
|----|--|---------|
| 1 | John Hall after John Francis Rigaud, The Collector of the Poll Tax Murdered by Wat Tyler (September 1798), engraving from David Hume's History of England from the Invasion of Julius Caesar to the Revolution in 1688 , vol. 2, part 1, London; printed by T. Bensley for Robert Bowyer, 1806. Wesleyan University Library, Special Collections and Archives | page 17 |
| 2 | William Bromley after John Opie, Lady Elizabeth Gray Entreating Edward the Fourth to Protect Her Children (May 1800), engraving from David Hume's History of England from the Invasion of Julius Caesar to the Revolution in 1688 , vol. 2, part 2, London; printed by T. Bensley for Robert Bowyer, 1806. Wesleyan University Library, Special Collections and Archives | 22 |
| 3 | Anker Smith after Robert Smirke, The Surrender of Calais (August 1796), engraving from David Hume's History of England from the Invasion of Julius Caesar to the Revolution in 1688 , vol. 2, part 1, London; printed by T. Bensley for Robert Bowyer, 1806. Wesleyan University Library, Special Collections and Archives | 31 |
| 4 | Augustus Earle, Wentworth Falls (1830), Rex Nan Kivell Collection, National Library of Australia and National Gallery of Australia, Canberra | 36 |
| 5 | P. J. de Louterbourg, Cataract on the Llugwy in Snowdonia (1805), aquatint, private collection | 41 |
| 6 | A loyalist mural on the Donegall Pass, Belfast; photograph by S. Cross | 54 |
| 7 | South front of Lissadell, County Sligo; photograph by S. Cross | 61 |
| 8 | Plan of the Phoenix Park, Dublin, 1830; private collection | 68 |
| 9 | Plan of the Phoenix Park, Dublin, 1845; private collection | 69 |
| 10 | 'Shipping the Great Bull from Nimroud, at Morghill, on the Euphrates', Illustrated London News , 27 July 1850, p. 72 | 104 |
| 11 | The Albert Memorial, Hyde Park, London, 1860s; photograph by Dana Arnold | 107 |
| 12 | John Vendramini after Robert Ker Porter, The Storming of Seringapatam (1802) (centre engraving), stipple engraving, | |

ILLUSTRATIONS

- | | | |
|----|--|-----|
| | 59.8 × 270 cm; London, British Library Oriental and India Office Collections, P779 | 112 |
| 13 | Thomas Jones Barker, The Secret of England's Greatness (c.1863), oil on canvas, 16.76 × 21.38 cm; London, National Portrait Gallery | 113 |
| 14 | Bellary Door – Dravidian Style, in George Watt, Indian Art Exhibition, Delhi, 1903. Being the Official Catalogue of the Delhi Exhibition, 1902–1903 , Calcutta, Government Printer, 1904, Plate 30, pp. 132–3 | 145 |
| 15 | 'The Multan Potter', by Sher Mohamad, Frontispiece to Watt, Indian Art Exhibition, Delhi | 147 |
| 16 | Bombay Room – Gujerat Art – furnishing, in Watt, Indian Art Exhibition, Delhi , Plate 2, pp. 4–5 | 149 |
| 17 | Edward Burne-Jones, The Sleep of King Arthur in Avalon (1881–98), oil on canvas, 282 × 645 cm, Museo de Arte de Ponce, Luis A. Ferré Foundation Inc. Ponce, Puerto Rico | 166 |
| 18 | Frederick Sandys, Morgan la Fay , 1862–63, oil on panel, 62.9 × 44.5 cm, Birmingham Museums and Art Gallery | 173 |
| 19 | Edward Burne-Jones, The Attainment: The Vision of the Holy Grail to Sir Galahad, Sir Bors and Sir Percival (1895–96), wool and silk tapestry, Morris & Co., 245 × 693 cm, Birmingham Museums and Art Gallery | 174 |
| 20 | British Government Pavilion, Empire Exhibition, Wembley, 1924; architects – J. W. Simpson and Maxwell Ayrton, Architectural Review , June 1924 | 187 |
| 21 | United Kingdom Pavilion, Empire Exhibition, Johannesburg, 1936; architect – Howard Robertson. Architects' Journal , 6 August 1936 | 188 |
| 22 | British Pavilion, International Exhibition, Paris, 1937; architect – Oliver Hill (perspective by J. D. M. Harvey). RIBA Drawings Collection | 191 |