

Contents

I. GENERAL CONSIDERATIONS

- 1. Attachment and Psychopathology: From Laboratory to Clinic 3
Leslie Atkinson
- 2. Clinical Implications of Attachment Concepts: Retrospect and Prospect 17
Michael Rutter
- 3. Patterns of Attachment and Sexual Behavior: Risk of Dysfunction versus Opportunity for Creative Integration 47
Patricia McKinsey Crittenden

II. RISK AND PREDICTION

- 4. Attachment Networks in Postdivorce Families: The Maternal Perspective 97
Inge Bretherton, Reghan Walsh, Molly Lependorf, and Heather Georgeson
- 5. Intergenerational Transmission of Attachment: A Move to the Contextual Level 135
Marinus H. van IJzendoorn and Marian J. Bakermans-Kranenburg

- 6. Attachment and Childhood Behavior Problems in Normal, At-Risk, and Clinical Samples 171
Susan Goldberg
- 7. The Role of Attachment Processes in Externalizing Psychopathology in Young Children 196
Mark T. Greenberg, Michelle DeKlyen,
Matthew L. Speltz, and Marya C. Endriga
- 8. Morality, Disruptive Behavior, Borderline Personality Disorder, Crime, and Their Relationship to Security of Attachment 223
Peter Fonagy, Mary Target, Miriam Steele, Howard Steele,
Tom Leigh, Alice Levinson, and Roger Kennedy

III. IN THE CLINIC

- 9. Toddlers' Internalization of Maternal Attributions as a Factor in Quality of Attachment 277
Alicia F. Lieberman
- 10. Intergenerational Transmission of Relationship Psychopathology: A Mother–Infant Case Study 292
Charles H. Zeanah, Elizabeth Finley-Belgrad, and Diane Benoit

- INDEX 319